A GREAT MAN GONE

Ex-Governor Pingree of Michigan Dies in London.

CANCEROUS AFFECTION THE CAUSE

He Was a Native of Maine, a Soldier of the Civil War, Mayor of Detroit Four Times and Governor for Two Terms.

HIS BODY WILL BE BROUGHT HOME

LONDON, June 19.—Ex-Governor H. S. Pingree, of Michigan, died here last night at 11:35. His son was the only one present at the time. The attending doctor left Mr. Pingree's bedside at about 11:15, promising to return shortly. H. S. Pingree, jr., who had been watching at his father's side, and who has not removed his clothes during that time, noticed a sudden change in his father's condition. He had hardly reached the patient's bedside when his father died peacefully, without warning and without speaking one word.

Young Mr. Pingree has wired his mother and his uncle in the United States not to come to London. The body will be embalmed and taken to his home.

The diagnosis made by London specialists of the cancerous affection in the intestines from which Mr. Pingree suffered left no hope for the patient's recovery. Towards the end of his illness Mr. Pingree suffered great pain and weakened rapidly. He was unable to retain nourishment. His mind, however, remained fairly clear. During the whole of yesterday he was principally kept alive by injections of strychnine and drugs administered to lessen his pain.

DETROIT, Mich., June 19.—Hazen Senter Pingree was born at Denmark, Maine, in 1840. In 1862 he enlisted in the First Massachusetts heavy artillery and served until the end of the war, when he located in Detroit, embarking in the manufacturing of shoes. In 1889 the republican party nominated ex-Governor Pingree for mayor of Detroit and he was elected by over 2,000 majority. He was re elected in 1891-93-95 by increased majorities each time. In 1896 Mr. Pingree was elected as governor of Michigan by 83 000 plurality, running ahead of the national ticket by 26,000 votes. He was re-elected governor in '98 by about 100,000 plurality and served out his term which expired in 1900. Last March he started on the trip to South Africa which resulted in his death in London.

Ex-Governor Pingree, while he was mayor, accomplished many municipal reforms, among others forcing the gas companies to lower their rates 50 per cent., establishing the public light plant, organizing the Detroit railway on a three cent fare basis, lowering 'phone rates and breaking up a number of sewer and paving rings that were thriving when he came into office.

His potato patch scheme for the relief of the poor was extensively copied and brought him much fame. While governor, Mr. Pingree devoted his energies toward securing the passage of a law taxing railroads and other corporate property on ad velorem basis instead of specifically on their earnings. His efforts resulted in the passage of a law along these lines by the last legislature. Mr. Pingree is survived by a widow and two children—a son and a daughter.

Death of a Native of Centre County.

J. M. Miles, a native of Centre county, died at his home in Tyrone Sunday evening at 9 o'clock from stomach and liver trouble. He was about 63 years of age.

John Mitchell Miles was the son of William and Mary Miles, and was born at Heckley Furnace, Halfmoon township, Centre county, on the 3d of May, 1838. He removed with his parents to Birmingham, and not long after in April of the year 1854 the family removed to Tyrone, and that has ever since been their home. William Miles died in August of the same year he went to Tyrone, and Mrs. Mary Miles died there twelve years ago.

On the 24th of February, 1864, J. M. Miles and Miss Martha Stonebraker were married at Altoona, Mr. Miles being a soldier in the civil war at the time, and home on veteran furlough. Ten children were born to the union two of whom are dead.

Deceased enlisted in Company A One Hundred and Tenth Pennsylvania Volunteer infantry, October 24, 1861, and was discharged on the 28th of June, 1865 at the close of the war, and had been a member of the First Presbyterian church of Tyrone. He was a painter by trade, and during all his long residence in Tyrone engaged in that business.

SCHOOL BOARD ORGANIZES.

Teachers Will be Selected the First Monday in July.

The Bellefonte School Board met Monday night and organized for the ensuing year. It was decided that the election of school teachers should be held on the first Monday in July.

The officers and committees selected are as follows:

President—D. F. Fortney.
Treasurer—John P. Harris.
Secretary—H. C. Quigley.
Finance—Harris J. P., Heinle and Crissman.
Supplies—Quigley, Haines and Heinle.
Repairs—Mingle; Harris H. P., Rees.
Accounts—Crissman, Rees, Mingle.
Text Books—Heinle, Harris J. P., Haines.
Grounds—Haines, Harris H. P., Mingle.
High School—Rees, Harris J. P., Fortney.
Library and Library Books—Harris H. P., Quigley, Fortney.

A New Business Firm.

A new business firm has been organized in Bellefonte the members of which are Harry Yeager and Elmer E. Davis. These enterprising young men will take charge of the shoe business so long and ably conducted by the late Edward L. Powers and later by George T. Bush. They will assume possession Monday, June 24th, and the firm name will be Yeager & Davis, successors to the Powers Shoe Company.

Harry C. Yeager the head of the new firm is a Bellefonte boy and well known to all our people. For the past 13 years he has been a clerk in the shoe store of A. C. Mingle where his fair and uniform treatment of customers has won for him the good will of everyone who came in contact with him. His many friends will wish him continued success, and predict for him a bright future in his new venture.

Elmer E. Davis has not been a resident of Bellefonte so very long but in the time he has been here he has won many warm friends. For several years he was a traveling shoe salesman and his experience gained in this way will be of untold value to him in his new business.

Mine Fire Under Control.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 18.—The fire in the Jersey mine at Plymouth, which has been raging for some weeks past, has been finally gotten under control. Three of the fire fighters, William Woods, James McGeer and Simon Gowallis had a narrow escape from death last night. They were caught behind a heavy fall of rock which shut off the air supply. They crawled over the fall and reached a small opening which enabled them to reach the surface. They were almost overcome with fire damp by the time they reached the open air.

Mad Dog on the Rampage.

A mad dog ran through Brookville and Richardsville Sunday and bit five boys and several dogs. At Richardsville Harry Jourdan, aged 7 years, was frightfully lacerated on the wrist and Robert Shaffer was bitten on the nose. The latter boy was sent to Baltimore for treatment. At Brookville the dog bit two brothers named Bell and a lad named Hetrick. The dog was afterwards killed by the citizens. As a result of his mad flight through the two towns thirteen dogs have been killed.

Died at Gatesburg.

Ellen, wife of Isaac Harpster, died at her Gatesburg home Monday morning at 7 o'clock of spinal meningitis. She was aged about 37 years. Surviving her are her husband and three small children, two boys and a girl.

Deceased was a daughter of the late John G. Rider. She was a consistent christian lady, being an earnest member of the Lutheran church.

The funeral took place Wednesday morning. Interment at Gatesburg cemetery.

Shock Killed Her.

After being informed of the death of her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Martin, Mrs. Kate Calvert, fell fainting to the floor, and a half hour later was a corpse. Mrs. Martin, who resides in South Williamsport, had been ill for several weeks, but her condition was not considered serious. About 11 o'clock Saturday night she suddenly expired. Her mother, Mrs. Calvert, was in another room when her daughter died, and the shock occasioned by the announcement proved fatal.

Bass Season Open.

Saturday, June 15, the bass fishing season opened. Heretofore the law permitted fishing for this particular specimen on June 1, but a recent act of the legislature changed the time to the 15th. Conditions are quite favorable for the opening of the season, the most of the streams being in good shape.

STATE LEGISLATION.

House and Senate Each Held a Session Monday Night.

PUSHING RAPID TRANSIT BILLS

Senate Adopts a Resolution Recommending the Appointment of Colonel James M. Bell to a Brigadier Generalship.

BALLOT REFORM BILL REPORTED

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 18.—In the senate last night Mr. Focht, of Union, reported from the elections committee the Guffey ballot bill with amendments. The new amendments provide that, on the application of thirty electors of any election district, courts shall direct the opening of ballot boxes in the presence of the court, where complaints of fraud are made. The bill had previously been amended so as to include the party circle and the assistance features of the Focht bill. The bill is on third reading and can be called up any time.

The senate refused to concur in the house amendments to the congressional apportionment bill and Messrs. Grady, of Philadelphia; Fisher, of Indiana, and Haines, of York, were appointed as a committee on conference.

These bills were introduced: By Mr. Weller, of Bedford, enlarging the powers of townships so that they may contract for the supply of water for the extinguishing of fires; also a bill authorizing the grading, paving and curbing or macadamizing of streets and alleys which may be in whole or in part of the boundaries of boroughs and first class townships by joint contract, and providing for the payment of costs, damages and expenses thereof.

Mr. Wentz, of Montgomery, presented a resolution, which was adopted, directing the superintendent of public printing to print 20,000 copies of a bulletin entitled "A Course in Nature Study for Use in the Public Schools," and a bulletin entitled "Nature Study Reference Library," and bind them together in a single bulletin. Three thousand copies are to be for the use of the department of agriculture, 5,000 for the department of public instruction 4,000 for the senate and 8,000 for the house of representatives. The cost is not to exceed $825.

A resolution introduced by Mr. Stineman, of Cambria, was adopted, recommending to the president of the United States the appointment of Colonel James M. Bell, of the Twenty-seventh regiment, United States volunteers, as a brigadier general in the regular army. The bill appropriating $10,000 to the Hahneman hospital, of Scranton, was recommitted to the committee so that the appropriation can be raised to $15,000. These bills were passed finally:

Establishing in first and second class cities a house or houses of detention for delinquent, dependent and neglected children.

Conferring upon the residents of this commonwealth the like exemption from lien, levy and sale of their property on judgments obtained here for causes of action arising in investments made elsewhere, is allowed by the Homestead or exemption laws of the states, territory or county where the cause of the action arose or the investment was made to citizens thereof.

House bill providing for the acceptance by the commonwealth of a conveyance of the real estate, buildings and personal property of the Lackawanna hospital for the northern anthracite coal region. House bill amending the bill regulating the manufacture and sale of "boiled" or "process" butter. The following house appropriating bills were passed finally: Pennsylvania Memorial home of the Women's Relief corps, Brookville, $9,000; Pennsylvania soldiers' orphans' schools, $386,000; Howard hospital and infirmary for incurables, $8,000; Philadelphia lying-in hospital, $15,000; Western Pennsylvania hospital for the insane at Dixmont, $25,000; for the care and treatment of the indigent insane, $1,700,000; appropriating $1,500 to the estate of Edgar L. King, of Harrisburg, for stenographic services during the legislative session of 1897. Easton hospital, at Easton, $15,000; state hospital for injured persons of the bituminous and semi-bituminous coal regions, located at Blossburg, Tioga county, $18,000; Wagner Free Institute of Science, Philadelphia, $10,000. Home of Widows and Single Women, Lebanon, $2,000; West Philadelphia hospital for Women, $2,500; Children's Aid Society of Western Pennsylvania, $10,000; Midnight mission, Philadelphia, $2,000 Pennsylvania Epileptic hospital and Colony farm, $10,000; Union Home for Old Ladies, Philadelphia, $4,000.

These senate appropriation bills were also passed finally:

For the purchase and erection of buildings in Lehigh county to be used by the state fish commission, $15,000; for the purchase of the site of Fort Augusta, $17,000. The senate adjourned until 10 o'clock to-day.

Cattle Dying in the Seven Mountains.

Several weeks ago one hundred head of cattle were placed in the "Kettle," a large scope of country in the Seven mountains south of Tusseyville, under the care of Wm. Mulberger.

Last week it was discovered that the cattle were becoming physically weakened by continual scouring and that several had died. Monday the owners of the stock from all parts of the valley between here and the mountains went in a body in search of their stock.

The sickness and death of the cattle is attributed to several causes. It is claimed by some that a poisonous plant is eaten by the cattle; others maintain that sassafras leaves are eaten in excess; others assert that the cause is due to the generally poor condition of the cattle when turned out, and that there is not sufficient pasture in the mountains to support such a large herd, in consequence of which the dumb brutes are driven to consume large quantities of young leaves and tender shoots which causes the bowel trouble referred to above.

From information at hand the total loss of cattle is 17 head.

Drugged and Robbed.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., June 18.—Lawrence Hannan, a young telegraph operator, and Thomas Horan, a student in telegraphy, report that they were drugged Saturday night in a block signal system tower at Big Mountain, on the Philadelphia and Reading road one mile east of here, by two well dressed strangers who slipped chloral hydrate into a glass of water of which they drank. The boys became stupified and the men took Horan's watch and disappeared. The boys were found in an unconscious condition two hours later by a freight crew, who brought them here. Physicians revived both with heart stimulants. Two suspicious tramps arrested Sunday night were released upon failure of the operator to identify them.

Oil at Lock Haven.

A day or two ago the discovery was made that natural gas bubbles up from the bottom of the river near one of the bridge piers, and Friday a sensation was created when it became known that the water was covered with petroleum oil. The oil came from some point further up the river and the water in the middle of the river was fairly well covered with it. Many persons walked out to the bridge and watched the oil as it floated by with the current of the stream. An experienced oil man who was with a party of men who were watching the floating oil, claimed that it was escaping from the great basin that is supposed to be within a few miles of this city. His theory is, that the oil is forced out by the pressure of natural gas.—L. H. Express.

Mrs. McKinley's Health.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Mrs. McKinley's condition continues to show a steady improvement; and she now has progressed to the point where her strength permits visits from a few friends.

Dr. Rikey, on leaving the white house shortly after 11 o'clock last night, said that Mrs. McKinley has passed an excellent day. She had rested in her easy chair for a longer time than usual and was now able, he said, to see a few friends for a short time each day. He expressed with considerable confidence the belief that Mrs. McKinley will be strong enough to go to Canton by July 1.

An Attempt at Train Wrecking.

Lancaster, June 14.—An attempt was made to wreck the Philadelphia express on the Pennsylvania railroad, near Christiana Wednesday morning. The train was due there about 2 50, but, fortunately, was preceded a few minutes by a freight train drawn by one of the heavy locomotives. This struck the obstructions and cleared the track without doing any serious damage. The obstructions consisted of two forty-quart milk cans filled with broken pig iron, the whole weighing about 500 pounds.

Founder of Elks Dead.

George W. Cumberland, known to the American stage as George W. Thompson, "Father of the Elks," died at Brooklyn, N. Y., last week from blood poisoning following an operation upon his hand. He was born in New York in 1836. He is said to have founded the order of Elks thirty-five years ago, becoming first exalted ruler of New York No. 1 in 1868.

ANOTHER DISAGREEMENT

Unsatisfactory Ending of Third Trial of Dr. S. J. Kennedy.

JURY WAS DISCHARGED BY JUDGE

The Crime for Which He Was Tried Was the Murder of Emeline C. Reynolds in the City of New York in August, 1898.

PRISONER REMANDED TO THE TOMBS

NEW YORK, June 17.—The twelve men who since 12:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon, at the conclusion of the judge's charge, considered the evidence in the third trial of Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy for the murder of "Dolly" Reynolds, reported to Judge Newburger at 10:25 o'clock Sunday morning that they were unable to agree upon a verdict. The judge at once discharged the jury from further service and remanded the prisoner to the Tombs. When the foreman of the jury announced the inability to agree Dr. Kennedy seemed unable to comprehend the situation. Then the tears came to his eyes and his face showed the effort he was making to control himself and crush his disappointment. But the smile that has been marked through most of the trial came back quickly and grew brighter as he caught the eye of Dr. Moore, his attorney.

Immediately after the adjournment of the court the attorneys for the defense saw Judge Newburger in regard to their next step in behalf of Dr. Kennedy. The judge said that they should see District Attorney Philbin as to whether he would agree upon the course to be pursued. He said that he (the judge) would be out of town today, but that they could appear before him on Tuesday to make whatever motion they desired. Mr. Moore will ask District Attorney Philbin to move the quashing of the indictment, and if the latter does not take that step to free Dr. Kennedy, Mr. Moore himself will make that motion, arguing that the state has shown twice its inability to convict his client of the crime charged and that the old idea of two disagreements being equivalent to an acquital ought to prevail in this case.

Five ballots were taken by the jury. The first stood 3 for conviction and 3 for acquittal, with 6 blank. The second ballot stood 6 for conviction and 6 for acquittal. The third stood 7 for conviction 5 for acquittal. The fifth and last was 4 for conviction and 8 for acquittal.

Emeline C. Reynolds, better known as "Dolly" Reynolds, was found dead with her head crushed in a room at the Grand hotel August 16, 1898, where she had gone with a man answering Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy's description according to the testimony of witnesses. In the dead woman's corsage was found a check for $13,000 signed "Dudley Grideon" and endorsed by "Samuel J. Kennedy." The police theory regarding this was that it was in payment of alleged winnings at the races. The evidence showed at the trial of the case in the criminal branch of the supreme court in the spring of 1899, that the woman's skull had been crushed with a piece of lead pipe, traces of which pipe on Dr. Kennedy's clothing were alleged to have been discovered by the police. Dr. Kennedy was convicted and sentenced to be executed at Sing Sing. The court of appeals, on Nov. 20, 1900, handed down a decision granting a new trial to Dr. Kennedy, and he was prosecuted before Justice Furman during the latter part of last year for the second time. This trial resulted in a disagreement. District Attorney Philbin transferred the case to general sessions and assigned Assistant District Attorney Osborne to prosecute it. The third trial began May 6

Ned Gray Came Near Bleeding to Death.

Ned Gray, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Gray, of Williamsport, who recently lost his right hand at Rishel's furniture factory, narrowly escaped bleeding to death during Wednesday night.

In some manner the artery in the arm became reopened and the young man awakened to find the blood streaming from it. Dr. Koser was sent for and responded promptly, stopping the hemorrhage.

Young Gray lost a great quanity of blood and was left in a very weak condition from the hemorrhage.—Gazette and Bulletin.

TIMBER TRACTS SOLD.

State Buys 60,000 Acres for Forestry Purposes.

The State Forestry Commissioners purchased from various parties sixty thousand acres of woodland lying between Pardee and Colyer. It is the purpose of the State to purchase, if possible, the entire belt between Pardee and Tyrone, which is regarded as a good territory to reforest. The average price paid per acre is $1.00.

After the State gets full control, hunting and fishing will be forbidden, and game, fish and forest wardens will be properly located to see that the State's orders are enforced. A warden will likely be stationed on the old Thompson farm, near Potters Mills, which will be turned over to the State together with 2,600 acres of woodland by E. M. Huyett. The larger tracts involved in this deal are as follows:

26,000, P. B. Crider & Son, Bellefonte.
22,000, J. F. Duncan, Lewisburg.
18,000, Pardee & Co., Hazleton.
5,000, Ashland Lumber Co., Ashland.
4,000, W. E. Smith & Co., Milmont.
15,000, Witmer & Co., Sunbury.
2,500, E. M. Huyett, Centre Hall.
2 000, Reichley Bros., St. Claire.
400, John Stoner, Millheim.

Cowardly Attempt to Burn a Family While They Slept.

Early Thursday morning the family of Joseph Teufel, of DuBoistown, were awakened by fire and smoke in the house. Mrs. Teufel is an invalid. Her daughter carried her out on the kitchen roof. The girl then aroused her father and brother. The flames were raging all over the lower portion of the house, and escape by the stairway being cut off, all sought refuge on the roof of the kitchen. Their cries alarmed the neighbors and a ladder was run up to the roof, down which the Teufels escaped. After hard work by a bucket brigade the flames were extinguished. An investigation revealed that the fires had been started in four different places, each under a bed room. Kerosene had been poured over the carpets, furniture and on the walls. There is not the slightest clue to the incendiary. Mr. Teufel says he did not know he had an enemy in the world.

—Not a single application has been received at Washington for the office of steamboat boiler inspector at Manila, at $2,250 a year. An examination for the place will be held by the civil service commission on May 23, and announcement to this effect was made several weeks ago, but no candidates are yet in sight.

—A wagon manufacturer of Mechanicsburg has made 35 wagons the past season for gypsies, ranging in price from $800 to $1600 apiece. These wagons are all ordered a year ahead, half being paid when the order is given and balance when the wagons are delivered. The orders are usually placed in the fall before the gypsies go South, and wagons are taken in the spring when they come North.

—The man who was found in the chicken coop of David Branstetter Thursday evening with a bag, and therefore supposed to be after chickens, proved to be too much under the influence of fire water to want anything except a secluded corner to rest his limber form. Burgess Pruner imposed the usual fine and he went his way toward his home near Bellefonte with one more lesson recorded in his book of personal experiences. When Mr. Branstetter discovered that his chicken coop contained a live man he summoned Peter Worley who went on guard over the coop, which by the time he arrived was locked from the outside, until Officer Snyder was brought to the scene. The officer kindly assisted the man to the borough bastile.—Tyrone Herald.

—Newspaper men are perhaps not the most privileged of any class on this earth but there is one thing they can do to a nicety outside of going to shows on "comp" tickets, and that is to write of the hereafter. A Nebraska editor of the craft says: "The editor sat in his office bold, whence all but him had fled, and he wished that every last deadbeat was in his grave—stone dead. His mind went wandering far away, to the time when he should die, and his royal editorial soul go fluttering through the sky; when he'd roam the fields of Paridise and sail o'er jasper seas, and all things glorious would combine his every sense to please. He thought how then he'd look across the great gulf dark and drear that yawned between his happy soul and those who swindled here; and when for water they would call and in agony they would caper, he'd shout to them 'Just moisten your tongue with the due that's on your paper.'

—Speaking of changing names there is such a thing as wiping out history by doing so. Take for instances the three stations on the Huntingdon and Broad Top railroad. Coffee Run was some years ago changed to Entriken. The estheticism which caused this could not change the color of the little creek which first gave the village its name. Then Rough and Ready was changed to Beaver, and the name of one of the old charcoal furnaces of Huntingdon county was thus dropped. But the worst of the lot was the change of the name of the bursting little town of Bloody Run to Everett. This was done on petition of citizens, who cared more for a high sounding than they did for an historic name.—Huntingdon News.

WANAMAKER'S OFFER.

He Sends a Letter to Mayor Ashbridge, of Philadelphia.

OFFERS $2,500,000 FOR FRANCHISES

This Refers to Those Which Would be Granted by Ordinances Passed by Councils and Now With the Mayor.

ADVISES MAYOR TO KILL THEM

PHILADELPHIA, June 14.—The latest move in the granting of street railway franchises by the city councils was made yesterday, when ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker sent a letter to Mayor Ashbridge, offering to pay to the city $2,500,000 for the powers, rights and franchises granted and intended to be granted by fourteen ordinances of councils now awaiting the mayor's approval. These fourteen ordinances give to a number of capitalists, who are very dominant in the faction of the Republican party in the state, the right to construct underground and elevated railways on streets now occupied by surface railway companies and to build surface roads on those streets not occupied by other companies. The speed with which the enabling acts were passed by the legislature and the passage by city councils in three days of the fourteen city ordinances has aroused opposition in certain quarters.

It has been said; but not officially announced, that the Union Traction company, which occupies most of the streets of the city, would contest the granting of the privileges along with Albert Johnson, who desires to construct street railways and charge 3 cent fares. Up to this time Mr. Wanamaker had not figured in the matter, but his participation against the granting of the franchises does not come with surprise. Mr. Wanamaker, in his letter, says he believes the franchises granted by these ordinances are of enormous money value; that the people will get nothing for these franchises; passengers will have no cheaper transportation, and that the only gainers will be those financially interested in the projects.

Mr. Wanamaker urges the mayor to veto the ordinances before him in order that the new ordinances may be drafted, conferring the franchises in question only upon the payment of a sum of money into the public treasury commensurate to the value of the grant. Mr. Wanamaker says he will cheerfully pay the sum of $2,500,000, but suggests that, if the new ordinances required the franchises to be put up at auction and sold to the highest bidder, an amount largely in excess of that which he had offered could be readily secured. His offer, he continues is merely an indication in concrete form of the magnitude of the gift conferred upon private citizens without return to the people.

In order that the offer might reach the mayor before he signed the ordinances, Mr. Wanamaker prepared two letters. One was sent to the mayor's private residence and the other was personally handed to the mayor by Mr. Wanamaker's secretary during the exercises incident to the formal acceptance of the new mint building by the United States government.

The instant the mayor recognized the handwriting of Mr. Wanamaker he threw the letter into the crowd without reading it. This action is readily understood when it is remembered that the mayor and Mr. Wanamaker are not on friendly terms.

The mayor spent the entire evening up to midnight in his office and it was presumed that he was going over the ordinances. He refused to be seen by newspaper reporters and what action he will take in the matter of approving the ordinances is not officially known. But it is more than probable that he will give them his approval.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Philip F. Garbrick Made 1st Lieut., and S. D. Gettig, 2nd Lieut., of Co. B.

Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in compliance with special orders from Brigade and Regimental headquarters an election for 1st Lieut. to fill the vacancy in Co. B, 5th Reg. N. G. P., caused by the resignation of Charles J. Taylor, was held at the Armory.

The election was conducted by 1st Lieutentant and Assistant Surgeon R. G. H. Hayes. 2nd Lieutenant Philip F. Garbrick was unanimously chosen to fill the office of 1st Lieut. and Samuel D. Gettig Esq., Orderly Sergeant of the company was elected 2nd Lieut. in Garbrick's place. Both men are thorough soldiers having started in Co. B, as privates and have worked their way up to their present positions. They both served during the Spanish-American war and will make excellent officers.

After the election was over the boys were all invited around to Ceader's parlors where an excellent repast was served to them through the generosity of their newly elected 2nd Lieut. Samuel D. Gettig. They greatly enjoyed his generosity and will always remember it.

After the eatables were disposed of there was an intellectual part to the program and Capt. H. S. Taylor acted as toastmaster. Short speeches were made by Charles R. Kurtz, Francis Speer, Lieuts. Hayes, Garbrick and Gettig.

Principal Married.

Prof. E. S. Ripka, of Centre Hill, and Miss Lulu May Byers, of Chambersburg, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Byers, of St. Thomas. The ceremony was performed in the presence of many invited guests. The interior of the Byers home was beautifully decorated, one piece being a floral arch which spanned the room.

The bride is an accomplished young lady and is well and favorably known in Chambersburg. The groom, who is well known in Penns Valley, is principal of the Chambersburg Business College, a flourishing institution which is yearly preparing young men for active life.

The bridal party last Thursday arrived at the home of the groom's father, A. C. Ripka, of Centre Hill, and will take a trip to the Pan-American Exposition before returning to Chambersburg, their future home.—Centre Reporter.

Fourth of July Races.

The management of Bellefonte's attractive fair grounds do not propose to let the 4th of July pass by without offering the people of this section of the state, some amusement. It has arranged for mid summer races on that date and everything is being put in the best of order for that purpose. Many of the best horses in the central part of the State have been secured, the track has been thoroughly gone over, a purse of $500.00 is promised and every indication points to a most successful and entertaining meeting. The purses will be as follows:

2.40 Class Trot & Pace	$150 00
2.24 " " " "	150.00
2.18 " " " "	100.00

The races will not be called until 2 p. m. so that persons who desire taking their dinners with the firemen at Hecla Park can enjoy both.

A Judge Sustains Bishop Fowler.

Judge Ferris has approved the finding of Bishop Charles F. Fowler in the case of the Welsh Methodist church at Wilkesbarre. In an opinion handed down he decided that the pastor could use whatever language or tongue he chooses in the pulpit and the congregation has no right to interfere. The pastor had been engaged to preach in Welsh, but finding that a number of the younger members of the congregation did not understand that language thoroughly, he preached one sermon a day in Welsh and one in English. One faction of the congregation objected and locked him out of church. He preached from the steps and commenced suit.

Drowned at Karthaus.

James, the 9 year old son of John Kehker, formerly of Snow Shoe, but recently removed to Karthaus, fell into Mosquito creek a short time ago and was drowned. The body floated out of the creek into the river and was found near Tinker.

Seven Years In Bed.

"Will wonders every cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but, "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Only 50c. At F. PUZZLES FOR JUDGES

SIMPLE WORDS THAT HAVE TANGLED UP ENGLISH COURTS.

Some Terms of Almost Everyday Use That Proved to Be Too Profound For the Intelligence of the Learned Bench and Bar.

In a case that came before a famous lord justice some time ago the counsel for the prosecution in the evidence had to mention a "blouse."

The judge asked what a blouse was, and it was explained that this was part of a lady's dress. But the case came to a dead stop for the time, for the judge did not know which part, and after some hesitation the barrister admitted that he wasn't sure. Several learned brothers gave their opinion, some opining a blouse was the upper half of a lady's costume, while others insisted it must be the lower half. The entire court, filled with learned celebrities whose heads held all the laws of Britain, from pitch and toss to manslaughter, argued it out, but nobody was sure. The judge thought it was the lower half, but a junior barrister who had lately been married said he thought that that half was called a skirt, but did not feel certain. At length a lady was called, who set the court right.

Another odd dilemma happened not long ago when in the Hobson "horse faking" case the word "fetlock" arose. A fetlock, as everybody knows, is the ankle of a horse. The court asked what it was, however, and the prosecuting counsel was nonplused. The witnesses were out of court save one, and he knew nothing. The judge thought a fetlock was a sort of hind knee, otherwise "hock," but one learned brother was quite certain it was the lock of hair that hangs over a horse's forehead. The defendant's solicitor opined it was that part of the harness which slips over the tail, the crupper, and another legal celebrity agreed with the judge. Finally the court had to call a stable groom to clear up the mystery.

In a case that was settled some years since the recorder was brought up short by a phrase used by the counsel for defense, who spoke of a transaction concerning a pound of "blacklead." This is a common and useful article, but the counsel on being asked to explain its nature said it was a black substance used for boot polishing. The recorder thought it was a mineral used in lead pencils, but another barrister asserted it to be a "tough kind of lead used for roofing houses." The case was brought to a standstill, and one lawyer, unsurpassed in legal knowledge, declared that blacklead was a slang term for pig iron as produced in the north country. A fourth expounder of the law vaguely suggested it was the opposite of white lead, and finally a domestic servant put the court right, and the Assembly at last learned that it was used for blacking stoves.

Another dilemma was produced a little while ago on the western circuit by the introduction of the words "dry nurse" in an address to the court. This bewildered the judge, who asked if a dry nurse was a nurse who dried babies after they had been washed. That solution did not occur to the learned counsel, who, after some hesitation, said he thought it meant a nurse who was not addicted to drinking and therefore most suitable to look after infants. Nobody seemed to know what the term really meant, though several more guesses were made, the last of them that a dry nurse was one who could not amuse children.

The court was again nonplused by a statement made that somebody concerned in the case supposed to suffer from melancholia was really "as jolly as a sandboy." The judge wanted to know what a sandboy was in order to form some idea as to the exact degree of jollity involved. The counsel could not tell him, though one suggested it was a boy who sanded the roads and the other thought it might be a lad building sand castles on the seashore. The whole court stopped to discuss what a sandboy was and why he was jolly, but they could not solve the problem.

It is hardly believable that anybody should not know what a "snaffle" is, but a London magistrate recently desired to be informed, and nobody could tell him what a snaffle might be. A solicitor thought it was the same thing as the "curb," and the clerk had an idea it was a kind of cold in the head which horses caught, causing them to snuffle a good deal.—London Answers.

A Famous Temple.

The most magnificent work of architecture in the world is the Taj Mahal, in Agra, Hindustan. It was erected by Shah Jehan to the memory of his favorite queen. It is octagonal in form, of pure white marble, inlaid with jasper, carnelian, turquoise, agate, amethysts and sapphires. The work took 22,000 men 20 years to complete, and though there were free gifts and the labor was free the cost is estimated at $16,000,000.

THE OLD WELL.

A Story of Moss, Microbes and Medicine.

It is the office of the poet to idealize. He paints pretty and pathetic word pictures which touch the heart and dim the eyes. But he does this regardless of physiology or pathology. When he sings a song of the old well on the farm and of the moss grown bucket in which the water was drawn, he hasn't a thought of the bacteria which find a fertile breeding ground in many an old well. He pictures the hot, thirsty day, and the bucket beaded with trickling drops which shine like pearls against the moss. But he doesn't paint the picture of the man whose tongue is parched with fever, who tumbles and tosses in his hot room and narrow bed while the bacilli of the bucket and the well are striving for his life. That wouldn't be a poetic theme, and he has nothing to do with a theme that is not poetic.

As a matter of fact the old well and its familiar bucket have been the means of diseasing whole neighborhoods. The microbe is everywhere, and the easiest vehicle for its introduction into the body is perhaps the water we drink. We can't keep the microbe out. We can prevent its harmfulness.

THE DANGER OF DISEASE

does not lie in the strength of the microbe but in the weakness of the body. When the blood is impure the microbe has a vantage ground from which to operate. When the blood is pure disease fails to find a breeding ground, and the microbe strives in vain against the man. Nobody can be healthy when the blood is impure. Taint the blood and every organ fed and nourished by blood must share the taint. Keep the blood pure and plentiful and the body is made strong to resist the assaults of disease.

"I honestly believe that I would have been in my grave to-day had it not been for your medicine, and the mercy of the good Lord," writes Mrs. James R. Moss, of New London, Stanly Co., N. C. "In the fall of 1892 I took a hard cold, which seemed to settle in my head, terminating in catarrh of the head. It bothered me all the time, but I did not think it was serious until the spring of 1893, when my health became so much impaired. My blood was all out of order, and I had to go to the doctor. He gave me medicine which helped me for a short time. In the winter of 1895 I got worse than I had ever been. My tonsils were enlarged and my neck swollen all out of shape; my throat was sore and I could not cure it. My husband went for the doctor, but he gave me no encouragement. He helped me a little, but it did not last long, and so he attended me for twelve months, when I heard of a lady that was taking your medicine and was getting well. So I secured some of the medicine and began taking it. In one week I was able to do my cooking. When I began taking the medicine I could sit up only a few minutes at a time, and I could rest or sleep only a little while at a time. My throat was sore, at times I could not even swallow sweet milk, and my tonsils were full of little eating sores. My left side was swollen out of shape and so sore I could not bear my clothes fastened, as I could hardly get my breath. My vituals would sour on my stomach before I could leave the table. My folks and friends had about given me up. The doctor said I would not get well. My father said I would not live a month, but three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, three bottles of his 'Pellets,' three bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy did the work and made me a well woman."

THE BEST THING

for impure blood is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It neutralizes the action of the poisons which corrupt the blood and disease the body. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, thus increasing the supply of pure blood, rich in the red corpuscles of health. By these the body is built up and its vitality restored. "Golden Medical Discovery" is singularly effective in the cure of scrofulous diseases, enlarged glands, swellings, pimples, eczema and eruptive diseases in general. The most obstinate and dangerous forms of blood disease have yielded to the curative power of this great remedy.

"I feel it is my duty to write to you of the wonderful curative powers of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Geo. S. Henderson, Esq., of Denaud, Lee Co., Fla. "I had a bad sore on my right ear, and my blood was badly out of order. I tried local doctors but with no good results. Finally I wrote you the particulars in my case and you advised your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I began to take. From the first bottle I began to feel better, and when I had taken eight bottles the sore was healed up. I wish you success."

"For about one year and a half my face was very badly broken out," writes Miss Carrie Adams, of 116 West Main Street, Battlecreek, Mich. "I spent a great deal of money with doctors and for different kinds of medicine, but received no benefit. At last I read one of your advertisements in a paper, and obtained a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Before I had taken one bottle of this medicine I noticed a change, and after taking three bottles I was entirely cured. I can well recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to any one similarly afflicted."

DON'T BE IMPOSED ON.

Sometimes a dealer for the sake of the little more profit paid on the sale of inferior preparations will try and sell a substitute as "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery." The claim is false on its face. There is no similar medicine for the blood and stomach which can show such a record of cures as the "Discovery." Don't be imposed upon by substitutes without a record.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. "A PERFECT GUIDE to health and happiness" is one title given to Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser.

C. L. Shaw, of Couley, Winn Par., La., writes: "No family should be without it, and anyone who wishes a perfect guide to health and happiness should have Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser."

Important to Supervisors.

A Luzerne county jury has rendered a verdict which, unless upset, may prove of wide application. The case was that of a woman and her husband against the township of Lehman for damages. The woman and her husband one night in the winter of 1895 were on their way to attend a grange meeting. At a certain point along the road snow had drifted and frozen to a solid mass, so that when the sleigh struck it there was an upset and the women was so severely injured that she has been an invalid ever since. The jury struggled with the matter some 40 hours and finally awarded the woman $1,000 and the husband $113 for the loss of his wife's service. The figures are not high for the extent of the damages apparently done, but the fact that there was any recovery at all fixes upon the township the responsibility for keeping the roads clear and safe for travel. In a very few sections of the state is any attempt made by the authorities to clear the roads of snow and ice.

Caused a Commotion.

A delegate to the Lutheran Synod, at DesMoines, Iowa, returned last Friday and while in Bellefonte told the writer the following interesting incident that occurred on the trip homeward. The delegate occupied the lower berth of a section in a pullman sleeper. During the night he was disturbed by a commotion in the berth overhead. He soon realized that a man above him had taken ill with cramps in the stomach and the wife at once got up and secured a porous plaster and went to the toilet room to prepare it for an application. In about 15 minutes there was a frightful commotion. There were loud curses and scramble, then came a heartrending shriek from a woman as she fell prostrate in the isle of the car. It awoke all the sleepers; cause of all the trouble was that, in her haste, the lady missed her section and placed the porous plaster on another man's stomach.—Centre Democrat.

TROLLEY LINE EXCITEMENT.

Philadelphian Views Route from Coburn to Brush Valley.

Through the efforts of J. W. Musser, J. G. Brill & Co, electric car builders of Philadelphia, sent John N. Akerman, of that city, to Millheim last week to consider the possibility of constructing a trolley line from Coburn to Brush valley.

Mr. Akerman was met at Coburn by Mr. Musser and taken over the route to Aaronsburg, Rebersburg and Madisonburg and the different points of advantage shown him. He seemed highly pleased with the project and returned to Philadelphia to advise the company, who will consider his report and notify Mr. Musser of their action.

While all is uncertain as to the conclusion the company may reach, it will be gratifying to the citizens of both valleys to know that the matter of building a trolley through this section is receiving the attention of outside parties.

Mr. Akerman also stated that if the line be built, they will haul passengers, mail, express and freight (if permissible) and that they will harness the water of Elk creek, which will not only give them the power required for their trolley, but will also enable them to place a large dynamo at some central point and furnish electric light for all towns along the line.—Millheim Journal.

LIVES REPORTED LOST

Ferry Boat Northfield Goes Down in the East River

RAMMED INTO BY A PROPELLOR

Various Rumors are in Circulation Relative to the Loss of Life, One Tug Captain Saying Nearly 100 Went Down.

NO BODIES AS YET RECOVERED

NEW YORK, June 15.—The wooden side-wheel ferry boat Northfield, which has been in the service of the Staten Island Ferry company for the past 38 years, was rammed last night by the steel hulled propellor Mauch Chunk, used as a ferry boat by the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The collision occurred just off the Staten Island ferry slip, at the foot of Whitehall street, and in less than ten minutes afterwards the Northfield, which was crowded with passengers, sank at the outer end of the Spanish line pier in the East river. The Mauch Chunk, which was bodly damaged, landed the two dozen passengers who were abroad of her. Over a hundred of the passengers of the sunken Northfield were dragged out of the water by people along the shore and the crews of the fleet of river tugs, which promptly responded to the ferryboat's call for help. A few of the Northfield's passengers were hurt in the accident, and the police believe that some lives were lost.

Captain Daniel Gully, of the tug boat Lutual, who saw the ferryboats crash together, says that immediately after the collision between 25 and 30 passengers leaped into the water, and that many of these perished. Captain Gully also declares that he is sure over a hundred of the Northfield's passengers were drowned. The captains of other tugboats who were early on the scene, however, were inclined to think that the disaster was not so serious as regards the loss of life. Thus far no dead bodies have been recovered. The reason for such a difference in opinion as to the extent of the disaster is that the wildest excitement prevailed on the Northfield.

The tug Mutual saved in all about seventy-five passengers from the Northfield, and the tugs Unity and Arrow saved between them 150 passengers. Two policemen of the Old Slip station claim to have rescued nearly thirty people between them. As soon as the crowd which had followed the sinking ferryboat along the river front were able to render any aid they worked with a will and in many instances men sprang into the water to save life. The greatest service was rendered by the tug boats, which, as soon as it was possible, circled around the Northfield and made a bridge to the Spanish line pier and men and women clamored over the tugs to shore.

The swift running flood tide and the question of which boat had the right of way was the cause of disaster. Captain Abraham Johnson was in charge of the Northfield and Captain S. C. Griffin was in command in the Mauch Chunk. Each lays the blame for the collision on the other.

Captain Abraham Johnson, of the Northfield, was arrested about midnight on a charge of criminal negligence. He is held without bail and will be arraigned today. Captain Griffin, of the Mauch Chunk, went to his home in Jersey City not long after the accident occurred. Officials of the Jersey Central railroad gave assurance that Captain Griffin would make his appearance in police court to answer to a technical charge of manslaughter. The only person missing up to midnight was George Coppers, janitor of the criminal courts building.

Willie's Perplexity.

When Willie came home last night he was more convinced of the uselessness of schools than he ever was before. Asked the nature of his latest trouble, he explained that "postpone" had been one of the words in the spelling lesson of the day. The teacher had directed the pupils to write a sentence in which the special word should appear.

Along with others, Willie announced that he did not know the meaning of the word, and so could not use it in a sentence. The teacher explained that it meant "delay" or "put off," and encouraged the youngsters to try. Willie's thoughts were on pleasanter things than school, and his made-to order sentence was: "Boys postpone their clothes when they go in swimming."—Buffalo Express.

The Rogues' Refuge.

There is one corner of Central America that is at present a perfect paradise for men who have committed any crime. It is a place where the outcasts of the world's society rule the land of their adoption and where the officials of the government protect all thieves that come to them and make it dangerous for any detective to molest them.

This is the republic of Honduras, one of the least advanced of the states of South or Central America. Honduras indeed is a curious mixture of jungle and gigantic forest, of cocoa and of rubber trees, of bugs, vampires, snakes and crocodiles—of all manner of things that creep and crawl and sting and bite; a region where life in the daytime is a mockery and at night one feels as though sleeping in red pepper.

Here in every hamlet and city, are to found men from different lands, mostly outlaws from their own country. Chicago, Boston, New York and Philadelphia all furnish their quota. England, France, Italy and even far-away Russia have their share. They make no attempt at concealment, bear the names they were born to bear, and go along about their business as if the laws of their own country had not declared them outcasts.—London Express.

Newspaper men who receive complimentary tickets to county fairs and other places are often looked upon as deadheads, but the managers of the Woodford, Ill., county fairs, who have some experience in such matters, had the following printed on the complimentary tickets issued: "This ticket has probably been paid for ten times by the paper to which it is issued. It will be honored in the hands of man, woman or child, white or black, red or yellow, who favors the association by presenting it, good for entrance and grand stand, and bearer if driving will be entitled to pass team free. The association recognizes the fact that its splendid success is due to the notices so freely given by the press, and while we cannot render an equivalent in cash, we return our grateful thanks."

At Milton the other evening, a nurse was wheeling the year old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Mytinger on West Fourth street, when a man stepped from behind a tree and threw vitriol from a bottle on the child. Fortunately none of the stuff flew on the child's face, but its robes were covered with the acid. The man made his escape. No reason can be assigned for his act.

EDITORIAL.

ATTORNEY GENERAL KNOX has paid $150,000 for a Washington residence. No wonder poor men are getting rarer in the Cabinet all the time.

NEW ORLEANS has displaced Boston as the second exporting port of the United States. New York is still first, but much of the business it formerly did in that line now goes through Southern ports.

JERRY SIMPSON, the sockless sage of Medicine Lodge, Kansas, was robbed by a bunco artist the other day and his enemies are unkind enough to intimate that he is trying to work his way back into the hearts of the rural voters.

THERE are fewer contested seats in the Fifty-seventh Congress than in any previous one for many years. There are practically no contests in the Senate, though the session will open in December with Delaware, one of the original States, with no representative.

THERE is a growing suspicion that those who write articles on "Easy Ways to Make Money" get all the money there is in them, while those who follow their directions only get experience. How many men have come under your observation whose flirtations with the Goddess of Fortune are responsible for the aforesaid suspicion?

THE present constitution of the State of New Jersey, adopted in 1844, has remained unchanged for fifty years and remains practically the same as when first adopted. The term of the Governor of New Jersey, which expires in December, is three years, and New Jersey is now the only State in the Union which adheres to a three year term.

IF, as it is generally supposed, the politicians were only seeking to use third-term talk as a buffer to enable them to play for satisfactory positions they have won their point. The President briefly and forcibly defined his attitude on the question of a third term and now the way is clear for the "favorite sons" to groom for the presidential sweepstakes in 1904.

IF the managers of the Pan-American Exposition could arrange for an exhibition of Mayor Ashbridge at so much per sight on the midway on "Philadelphia Day" at the exposition, June 29th, they would not only make a barrel of money but they would confer a great favor upon exposition visitors who have a natural curiosity to see the man who owns Philadelphia and is farming his holdings in a style that makes Boss Croker a mere amateur in the business.

SENATOR QUAY, who once made a hit by posing as a workingman, with a dinner bucket, has bought a farm, notes an exchange and then asks: Will he now try the role of "the man with the hoe?" Not at all. Mr. Quay, who is perhaps the most illustrious example of a man who has given a life-time to politics for revenue only, and with astonishing results, merely takes a periodical flyer in real estate to emphasize the purchasing power of "the man with the dough."

HIS HONOR PREPARING TO TRAIL THE ERMINE IN POLITICS AGAIN.

If reports are correct we are justified in stating that His Honor, Judge Love, is again preparing to step down from his judicial eminence and assume the dictatorship of a political contest in Centre county. It is likely that His Honor has received orders from the machine headquarters and as he has proven himself to be one of the machine's most submissive, and we may say servile, partisans, a machine command is law to him and obedience a matter of course.

Judge Love has had a bitter experience in politics in recent years and in every instance the result of his political adventures has only served to intensify a public sentiment that discredits a representative of the judiciary who disregards the traditions of its high calling and makes it the target of adverse criticism and censure.

Judge Love has made sacrifices for the machine he has too faithfully served that no office within its gift could counterbalance and yet he is ready and willing to again descend from his judicial station and publicly proclaim that his power and influence is at the service of a political organization that honest men abhor and hold in detestation.

After all, Judge Love has gone too far to turn back and perhaps it is just as well that he continue to serve his political masters with all the energy and zeal he can inject into his efforts. He has long since sold himself body and soul to the machine, and for what? There have been no honors thrust upon him. There has been no judicial advancement come to him, he is still but the president judge of the 49th judicial district, and his dreams of a Supreme court justice robe or a Federal court ermine have had several rude awakenings. What has he received in return for his services to the Quay gang? only the empty honor of naming postmasters for Centre county and selecting the county enumerators for the Twelfth U. S census.

To be sure, he has the proud distinction of an intimate association with the Master Boss and his chief henchmen and he exercises this privilege by frequent trips to Harrisburg where he saunters with freedom through the official apartments of his friend Governor Stone or spends a happy hour or two with his machine co-laborers in the General Assembly. Does all this compensate him for the price he paid for it? Not in our opinion, and we believe we express a sentiment pretty generally concurred in.

Not content to leave bad enough alone His Honor is going to increase the debt of the machine to him by another effort to carry the county for Quay and Quayism. He will make the attempt by asking the Republicans of the county to vindicate Thompson, his friend the pledge breaker. No doubt his friends at Harrisburg commanded him to do it and he is willing to try. Isn't it awful?

NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT.

There are rather indefinite statements that several confidential conferences have been held in Harrisburg recently with a view to organizing an opposition to John P. Elkin for Governor and to protect the State from another Legislature such as the present one has been. According to report it is intended to have candidates this year for State Treasurer and Supreme Judge merely for the purpose of securing enough votes to entitle the organization to recognition on the official ballot next year, when it is proposed to give the people an opportunity to determine whether they want another four years of the kind of political methods and legislation they are now enduring. It is the opinion of those interested in this movement that the anti-machine sentiment is stronger among the people of the State today than ever before.—Phila. Press.

THE vindication of John K. Thompson promises to be the issue in the approaching Republican county primaries.

THE VINDICATION OF JOHN K. THOMPSON.

Knowing ones who claim to be able to correctly interpret the signs of times political are predicting a contest between the Quay and the anti-Quay forces in Centre county at the forthcoming Republican primaries. A meeting of the local Quay leaders and a contingent from Philipsburg in Bellefonte in the early part of last week seems to be the foundation upon which the political prognosticators have based their prediction. A conference of political leaders is usually regarded as a preliminary to action and there is doubtless some truth in the rumor that our Quay friends are preparing to renew their battle for control of the county Republican organization.

Of course we are ignorant of the purpose for which the conference was held and we are likewise uninformed of the conclusions reached by its participants. It has been said, however, and we are persuaded in the belief that the statement has been made from a knowledge of the truth, that the Quay leaders, Judge Love, W. E. Gray, E. R. Chambers, and others recognized as members of the Centre county machine coterie, have decided to ask the Republican voters of Centre county to elect John K. Thompson as one of the delegates to the State Republican convention, as a vindication of Thompson's course in the legislature, and to urge them to send delegates to the County convention who will vote to depose Colonel Wilbur F. Reeder from the county chairmanship and transfer the party organization into the hands of the above named machine coterie.

The foregoing is said to be the aim and object of the machine leaders of Centre county. If there is to be a contest, and we must confess that indications point in that direction, the issue will be: the vindication of John K. Thompson, because, if the Republicans of Centre county at the primary elections signify their desire that he be elected as a delegate to the State convention, the dethronement of County Chairman Reeder and the delivery of the county organization into the control of the machine faction, will follow as a natural result.

The vindication of John K. Thompson! Think of it! If any man on the face of the earth stands in need of a vindication that man is of a certainty John K. Thompson. That he deserves one, is a horse of another color. Centre county, in its hundred years' history, never had a public official who arose to the prominence that John K. Thompson has acquired in his brief career in the Legislature. But the prominence he has achieved is of a character that most men would spurn, and yet, Thompson, the man of many pledges and broken promises; Thompson, the man who has helped to make the legislative body of which he is a part, one of the most infamous and corrupt legislatures that has ever assembled beneath the dome of the State capitol; Thompson, who has brought reproach and discredit upon the county and its citizenship by his treachery and his reprehensible course in the General Assembly, is to be presented to the Republicans of Centre county by his machine sponsors as worthy of being the representative of the county Republicans in the State convention.

Beyond a doubt he would make a fit representative for those who seek to secure his vindication, but fortunately there is an element in the Republican party in Centre county who look up and not down when a man of their political faith is to be selected to act as their representative in party conventions, county and state, and who will welcome an opportunity to meet the issue of vindication at the approaching Republican primaries. The result of a contest on this issue, however, would not be a vindication of Thompson; it would be a vindication of those who unwisely gave Thompson the opportunity for misrepresenting Centre county in the Legislature.

The vindication of Thompson will be the issue if a contest is to be waged at the Republican primaries, that seems to be an accepted fact. We believe the Republicans of Centre county will be glad to have an opportunity to express their sentiments regarding Mr. Thompson and his course. If he desires to tempt the political Fates by seeking a vindication and his machine associates are willing to shoulder the responsibility of espousing his cause let them have it and set the pace. We will venture the prophecy that it will prove to be the stiffest proposition they ever attempted to direct.

GOVERNOR STONE AND HIS DECLAMATORY EFFORTS.

Among the distinguished notables who orated at the reception tendered by the city of Philadelphia to the visiting delegates to the Southern Industrial Convention which held forth in that city last week, was Pennsylvania's incomparable chief executive, William A. Stone.

We did not read His Excellency's declamation. We have not forgotten an occasion when we were compelled through force of adverse circumstances to listen to him speak a piece and so long as we are permitted to retain a recollection of that wretched hour of enforced affliction we are not likely to become reckless enough to invite a repetition—even in a moderate degree, of the torments of that one bitter experience, by reading his platform utterances, dressed as they doubtless are by some competent reviewer to meet the critical exactions of the arbiter of the "art preservative."

The Governor's declamatory exercise before the delegates to the Southern Industrial Convention, if it did nothing else, furnished the press representatives present upon that occasion with plenty of material for ridiculous comment, and, judging by those we read, they made the most of the opportunities the Governor generously provided.

One of the representatives of a leading Philadelphia daily in his contribution to his paper, interprets some of the Governor's remarks in a style at once amusing and pertinent to the questions of the hour. We wish we could afford the space to give the reporter's copy in full. We append, however, a part thereof that will indicate the impression made by the Governor upon those who know him and are acquainted with his official misdeeds:

"Governor Stone's oratory is a cross between a barn raising and a high school commencement. It is not exactly a feast of eloquence; rather it is a pile of picnic sandwiches. One of its most effective phrases was: 'What you want in the South is not carpet baggers, but carpet bags filled with capital.'

"Of course, politics was not on the programme this week, but since the Governor brought this mention many people who heard it could not help recalling that the whole tribe of bandits to which he referred belonged to that class of political plunderers of which he is a shining light, and others could not resist the temptation to calculate that all the stealings of the carpet baggers in the South did not amount to very much more than the value of the franchises which the Pennsylvania Legislature voted to the gang and the bills for which Governor Stone himself signed at the midnight hour."

"A quiet patriarch listened to the remarks, and when the Governor ended his paragraph about the mutuality of interests with 'All expect to go to the same heaven and the only thing we differ about is as to its location,' the old gentleman quietly remarked, 'It is well, William, thee does not know the road or thee might sign another bill giving the franchise to the gang.'"

As a public speaker Governor Stone is without doubt one of the most tiresome examples that ever came over the pike. To be sure, he does, perhaps upon all occasions, the best he can, but he unfortunately has so little material to work upon and his intellectual capacity is so restricted and his environments so prejudicial to mind training and character building that his efforts can only result in emphasizing the fact that silk purses cannot be made out of sows' ears. He should foreswear the rostrum and thereby confer a lasting favor upon a much afflicted people.

WORK FOR THE CUBAN GOVERNMENT BUILDERS.

The probability at present is that the first President of Cuba will be inaugurated on February 24th next, the anniversary of the beginning of the last rebellion against Spain. There will be plenty for the Cubans to do in the meantime, the establishment of the Island government being by no means completed by the adoption of the Platt amendment in the form presented by Congress. An electoral law must be passed, nominations must be made for the Presidential and Vice Presidential offices and members of the Cuban Congress named and elected. While these formative processes are being taken the United States army will remain on the island.

The election law is the most troublesome point at issue. Although the new constitution provides for universal suffrage, there are still in Cuba two factions, one of which insists upon retaining this provision, while the other demands that the constitution shall be amended so that the right of ballot shall be restricted to those possessing property and educational qualifications. The last named faction consists of the conservative business interests of the island, which view with some apprehension the successful outcome of the effort to allow the suffrage of all.

In the municipal elections held in Cuba last summer, no one was allowed to vote unless he could read or write or was possessed of real or personal property to the amount of $100, American gold, or had served in the Cuban army prior to July 18, 1898. In the elections for delegates to the constitutional convention the same restrictions were imposed, in addition to which the voter was required to be a native born male Cuban, born while his parents were temporarily residing abroad, or a Spaniard who had not announced his continued allegiance to the Spanish crown. These conditions narrowed the right of suffrage to a considerable degree, and led to vigorous effort on the part of the radicals to abolish them in the election of a Cuban president.

THE PASSING OF THE STAMP AND OTHER TAXES.

Most people may not have to be reminded that after the 30th day of the current month many of the vexatious stamp taxes will be taken off. They were inflicted on us to support the war, and the war being done they have served their purpose and will go the way we hope all taxes may go when we at last come into the millenium. We are now to look forward for the 1st of July, and to many it will this year rival the 4th. On that date and after there will be no more stamps on bank checks, drafts, telegraph messages or money orders, and most forms of commercial paper will be legal without stamping. Some of the taxes, of course, will still remain, though chewers of gum will be pleased to know that their cud is to be freed from all governmental liens and charges.—Phila. Times.

THE KING OF SUSPENSION BRIDGES.

The new East River bridge thrown from Manhattan to Brooklyn, now rapidly approaching completion, will as a suspension bridge stand unrivaled. It will be four times as strong as the present Brooklyn bridge and thirty-three feet wider. It will have six railroad tracks, two carriage-ways each twenty feet wide, two foot-walks and two bicycle-paths. The present Brooklyn bridge has a total channel span of 1,595½ feet and a total length of 6,000 feet. The figures for these measurements on the new bridge are 1,600 feet and 7,200 feet. The steel towers of the new bridge are about fifty-nine feet taller than the masonry spires of the old Brooklyn bridge.

OUR REAPPORTIONED CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

The political powers that be have completed their plans for a reapportionment of the Congressional districts of the State, and a bill framed in accordance with their designs is ready for legislative consideration. The measure bears the seal of Senator Quay's approval and that practically assures its passage by the General Assembly and its approval by the Governor.

The 28th Congressional district, of which Centre county is a part, has been mutilated by the new bill. Clarion and Forest counties are to be removed from the district and McKean and Cameron counties substituted. By this arrangement the district will become Republican, but by a majority that will be by no means assured when discussion and strife enter into the ranks of the dominant party. However, the district will be reapportioned to suit the purposes of the machine and we will see in whose interest the change was made when the Republican candidate for Congress from the new district is announced. Reapportionments are made in these days to pay political obligations. Who is the man for whom the district has been made? Time will tell.

ONLY BY COURTESY OF THE PRESIDENT.

The announced intention of certain Representatives to reappoint the West Point cadets recently dismissed from the academy for insubordination has brought to light the interesting fact that Representatives have no right of appointment to either West Point or Annapolis, except by courtesy of the President. While they may nominate the cadets from their respective districts, the actual power of appointment belongs exclusively to the President, who may or may not accept the nomination made by the congressional representative. As a rule these nominations have been approved by the President, and it is probably on that account that what is merely a privilege has finally come to be regarded by some as a right. It is intimated that no selection of a dismissed cadet will be approved and it is to be hoped that the intimation is sustained by fact.

A PRETTY pair of precious political plunderers—Governor Stone and Mayor Ashbridge.

American Zionists.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. June 18.—The fourth annual convention of the Federation of American Zionists began here Sunday with a larger attendance than ever before in its history. Delegates from every section of the country were present. The aim of Zionism, as explained by the speakers, is to establish in Palestine a legal home for the oppressed and persecuted Hebrews of Russia, Roumania and other European countries, and furnish them with an asylum by consent of the powers, where they will have an opportunity to begin life anew under more favorable circumstances. Greetings were received from Baron Rothschild and Max Nordau. Various special committees were appointed during the session.

Sunday afternoon an effort was made to amend the constitution by making it obligatory upon every member of the federation before becoming a delegate to the convention to purchase a share in the Jewish Colonial Trust of London. The amendment was voted down. The following committee was appointed to devise ways and means of establishing a Hebrew newspaper. Rabbi S. S. Wise, Portland; Leon Zolotakoff, Chicago; A. J. Leon, Minneapolis; Rabbi J. Bronskey, Newark, N. J.; Gabriel H. Mayer, Philadelphia.

The concluding sessions of the convention were held Monday. The officers of the federation are: Professor Richard Galthel, of Columbia university, New York, president; Isadore D. Morrison, of New York, secretary, S. I. Sarksee, of New York, treasurer.

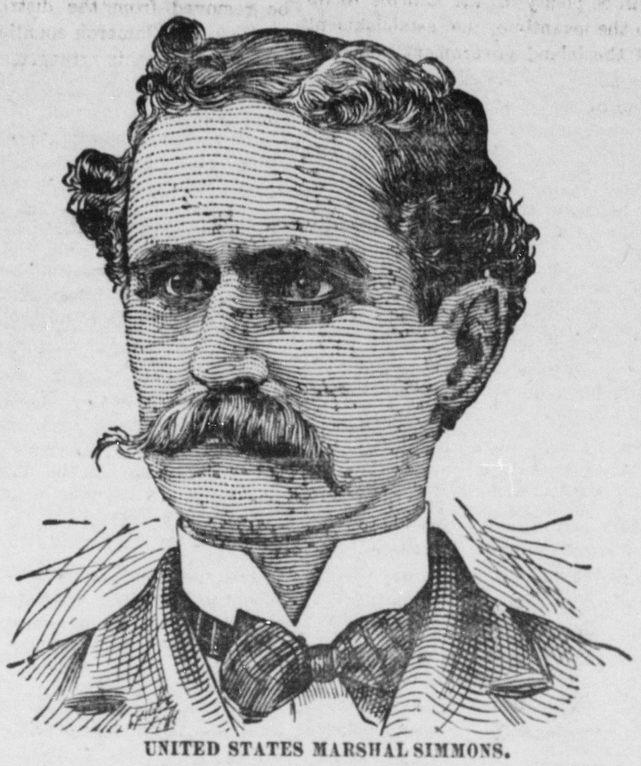
Four Leaf Clover.

According to old tradition, luck approaches every one at least once. Another old tradition has it that the finding of a four-leaf clover is a sure omen of good luck coming. Small pots of what appeared to be four-leaf clover, when first exhibited a few years ago by a Berlin florist, had a rushing sale at a high price. These pot plants were not clover, however, but merely specimens of edible wood-sorrel oxalis esculenta. Later the florists succeeded in producing four-leafed white clover. Next, four-leafed purple clover was introduced, but, while being a species of true clover, its rather sad color prevented its becoming very popular.

Only quite lately have pot plants of four-leafed true meadow clover (trifolium pratense) appeared in the market. These plants are artificially grown. They are yet so high priced that only wealthy people may get them. What matter, though! Luck must not be sought, cannot be bought, comes unexpected. Not that plants of the rarity, but only specimens found without seeking are, according to tradition, harbingers of good luck.

SYSTEMIC CATARRH

And Grip Prostration Afflicts the People All Summer.



UNITED STATES MARSHAL SIMMONS.

Hon. F. Simmons, United States Marshal, Mobile, Alabama, speaks in high praise of the merits of Peruna. In a letter written from Washington, D. C., he says:

"After having used Peruna for a short time I find that it is the most excellent remedy for the grip and catarrh ever prepared. I can heartily recommend it to any one." Yours sincerely,

F. Simmons.

Even a slight attack of la grippe sows the seeds of discord and degeneration all through the system. Recovery seems impossible. The strength does not return. The whole system seems deranged. Every function is disturbed. Appetite and digestion demoralized. Creeping rigors, hot flashes, cold sweats and fitful sleep linger to make life almost unbearable.

It is this condition that Dr. Hartman calls systemic catarrh. The whole system is saturated with catarrh. This discovery marked an important advance in the history of medical science. The medical profession had long been groping to discover the meaning of the stubborn and distressing after-effects of la grippe. All remedies seemed alike inadequate.

As soon as Dr. Hartman announced that it was his belief that the after-effects of la grippe was simply systemic catarrh, a great advance was made in the treatment of these cases. It now only remained to find a reliable remedy for systemic catarrh.

Here a new difficulty arose. Catarrh had been regarded by many physicians as a local disease and treated solely by local remedies. Such physicians knew of no systemic remedy for catarrh.

Other physicians regarded catarrh as a blood disease and had been in the habit of treating it with blood medicines, which could be of no possible use in systemic catarrh.

For a time Peruna enjoyed the distinction of being the only systemic catarrh remedy known. It was not even claimed by anyone that there was another remedy for this exasperating condition.

Since then, however, a great many remedies have been proposed for systemic catarrh, and a great deal of valuable time wasted in experimenting with other remedies. But it still remains true that Peruna is the only specific remedy for the after-effects of la grippe. The demand for this remedy, in consequence of the present epidemic of la grippe, is enormous.

Mr. J. P. Lowery, proprietor City Hotel Albany, Texas, says: "Being advised to try Peruna for la grippe and asthma, I did so with good results. I had been feeling very unwell for a long time, and had asthma quite bad till I came West, when I got better of the asthma, but was not well. I tried a great many remedies for it, but nothing was able to cure me.

"I took three bottles of Peruna and I am happy to say that it is the best medicine I ever used. I am satisfied that Peruna is a good medicine, and as such have commended it to several of my friends with good results. It is seldom I give a testimonial, but I think this due you. I hope others may be benefited through you and your medicines."

Every one should read Dr. Hartman's latest lecture on la grippe. This lecture will be sent free by The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio.

THE LUTHER LEAGUE.

Central District's Seventh Annual Convention in Session at Lock Haven.

The seventh annual convention of the Luther League, Central District of Clinton, Centre and Union counties, met in its first session in St. John's English Lutheran church at Lock Haven Wednesday. St. John's church is the birthplace of the district league, it having been organized in this church seven years ago. The session was opened by Rev. Rupley. After a song, Rev. Motter led in prayer. F. G. Knights, the local president, being absent from the city, Frank E. Schell delivered the welcome address, which was responded to by Clement Dale, Esq., of Bellefonte.

The Luther League rally hymn was then sung. Miss Lizzie Quinn was substituted as secretary, in the absence of the regular secretary.

Mrs. Rupley, Mrs. Weicksel, of Renovo, and G. C. Hosterman, of Boalsburg, were appointed a committee on nomination.

Rev. Luther M. Weicksel opened the discussion on "Ideal Young People's Societies." Among other assertions he stated that we are part and parcels of mighty movements. Upon the Lutheran young people of to-day is more responsibility than they appreciate. The ideal young people's societies are only the aggregate of the ideal individual.

The committee on nomination reported for president, Clement Dale, Esq., Bellefonte; vice presidents, Rev. McConnell, Mifflinburg, F. E. Schell, Lock Haven; recording secretary, Walter Kerline, Centre Hall; corresponding secretary, Mrs Weicksel, Renovo; treasurer, Miss Mary Klose, Mifflinburg. On motion the report was accepted.

The church was filled for the evening service, which was opened with an anthem by the choir. The devotional service was conducted by Rev. Aikens. Scripture was read by Rev. McConnell, who also offered prayer.

Dr. Holloway spoke on "The Relation of the League and Other Organizations to the Pastor and Church." The church has no right to use any authority not given it by Christ. He has given us all the direction necessary to govern a church. The church can never take a secondary place. To place the Luther League, Alliance or Christian Endeavor ahead of the church is wrong. Organizations must be co-operative with the church and with the pastor.

THURSDAY MORNING.

The devotional service was conducted by Rev. Weicksel. The subject, "Luther and the Diet of Worms," was opened by N. S. Shollenberger, of Montgomery, statistician of the State League. He gave a general history of Luther's trials and final victory in the reformation. The general discussion was participated in by Rev. Weicksel, of Renovo; Dr. Holloway and Clement Dale, of Bellefonte, and Rev. Aikens, of Pine Grove Mills.

The next subject, "Are Our Young People's Societies for Church Members Only?" was opened by Rev. Luther McConnell, of Mifflinburg. He started by saying that the societies were intended for young people outside of the church. Rev. Aikens stated that the object of the young people's societies is to bring the young people into closer relationship and is not intended for only church members, but for all who can be influenced to join the societies and finally the church. Dr. Holloway also spoke on the subject.

A subject not on the program was discussed—that of a universal Luther League of societies in the Lutheran church, instead of the numerous other named societies. The interesting discussion was participated in by a number of ministers and by State Statistician Hollenberger.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Thursday afternoon's session opened with devotional services conducted by Rev. C. T. Aikens, of Pine Grove Mills.

The following delegates were elected to represent the central district at the state convention at Shamokin, June 28: Rev. and Mrs. Rupley, Rev. L. M. Weicksel, Rev. W. K. Diehl, Prof. C. L. Gramley and Dr. H. C. Holloway.

The matter of selecting a place of meeting for next year was left in the hands of the officers and executive committee, with prospects of going to either Bellefonte or Mifflinburg.

The afternoon discussion by Rev. C. T. Aikens—"Can the Members of the Young People's Societies Neglect the Regular Church Services," who stated there is only one answer to this question, which is, that the members of the young people's societies dare not neglect the regular church services. We as a young people's societies pledge our allegiance to the church. The society represented stands for loyalty to the church. We dare not substitute the young people's society for the church.

The next discussion was on "The Social Side of the Societies and the Character of Their Entertainment." Rev. L. M. Weicksel opened the discussion. He said: Make your social side and your entertainments so you can ask God's blessing upon them. Rev. Weicksel was followed by Rev. Luther McConnel, of Mifflinburg. The safety of our young people depends upon the disposition within themselves. He also used the baptismal covenant as a guide for young people to keep them in the right.

After singing "God be with you 'till we meet again" the session adjourned with the benediction by Rev. McConnell.

After the afternoon session the delegates were shown through the Normal.

THURSDAY EVENING.

At 6:45 the convention met at the junction of Main street and the avenue, where two cars had been chartered and went over the line to Mill Hall and back.

At 8 o'clock Rev. Heisler, D. D., president of the Susquehanna university, Selinsgrove, Pa., delivered an address on "Higher Education." Rev. Heisler is a gentleman well and favorably known in all the Christian churches, as well as an ardent worker in the Lutheran church and especially among the young people.

After Dr. Heisler's address, Rev. Luther McConnell, vice president of the District league, thanked the pastor and local societies in behalf of the convention, for the courteous treatment which they received.

With the benediction by Rev. Dr. Heisler, the seventh annual convention of the Luther league of Central Pennsylvania closed. The delegates returned to their homes Friday morning.

Tuesday evening the School Board selected the teachers for the coming term: High school, Prof. H. C. Rothrock; intermediate, W. E. Keen; 1st primary, Miss Florida Duck; 2nd primary, Miss Lyle McCloskey.

Mr. Garrett, of Boston, shoe agent, sold D. I. Neiman, the finest and best stock of ladies' and childrens' and mens' shoes ever seen in this market.

John Stoner returned from Bedford county, where he had gone to look after his lumber interests. He says that they are getting good prices, and have the best kind of timber.

The horse sale on Friday was not so largely attended as some former sales, but there were many buyers and the auctioneer, O. P. Taylor, of Buffalo, N. Y., knocked them down in short metre. The average price was about $143.50.

—There are many kinds of porch swings being made and sold in Bellefonte, but for beauty and solid comfort none of them equal those manufactured by Mr. Jerry Shearer, at his shop near Reynold's Mill. His swings are becoming very popular as is evidenced by the fact that he is almost deluged with orders.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, June 19th, 1901.

President McKinley's cheerfulness tells the story of Mrs. McKinley's improved condition even better than the assurances of her physicians. He now puts in the usual time in his office. The cordial response of the country to his announcement that he would not be a candidate for a third term has also added to his cheerfulness. Letters of congratulation are still pouring into the White House by every mail. He had a long conference with Minister Conger, the first he has had since Mr. Conger's return from China—on Chinese affairs, which Mr. Conger thinks will now steadily improve. Mr. Conger expects to start on his return to China next month. He predicts that American commerce with China will greatly increase. President McKinley has reappointed Gov. Otero of New Mexico, and U. S. Marshal Foraker. Mr. Foraker who is a brother of Senator Foraker, has been the Marshal of the territory for several terms. Speaking of those appointments, delegate Rodey, of New Mexico, said they were entirely unsatisfactory. He added that he did not expect Gov. Otero to serve out the term of four years; because New Mexico would be astate in less time than that. Senator Burrows, of Mich., is a strong advocate of the election of Senators by direct vote, and as he will be Chairman of the Senate Committee on Privileges, and Elections, he will be in a position to help along everything looking towards a constitutional amendment providing therefor. He said "I appreciate the difficulty of securing an amendment to the Constitution, but when you remember that no less than thirty-five states have expressed their approval, I am encouraged to believe that even an amendment to the Constitution is not beyond the range of possibility." Senator Burrows will propose a constitutional amendment to prevent any state being deprived of part of its representation in the Senate, by providing that whenever a legislature fails to elect a Senator, the Governor of the state shall order an election by the people to fill the vacancy. Senator Burrows said: "In framing the Constitution the fathers arranged that if there be a vacancy in the House of Representatives an election should be held for a member. They also provided that if the electoral college failed to elect a President, that duty should devolve upon the House of Representatives. It did not apparently occur to them that a legislature might fail to elect a Senator, and so they did not provide for that contingency. My plan simply remedies that oversight."

Senator Allison, who has been one of the leaders of the republican party longer than any man now in public life, always has an attentive audience when he talks. Asked who would be the republican candidate for President, he said, "It would take a wiser man than Solomon to predict what will happen in the next three years, and upon the things that will happen will largely, if not entirely depend upon the action of the Convention." Asked whether he would accept the nomination, he replied: No; I would be seventy-five when the convention met. I will stand aside and see the younger men struggle for the honor. It is a great honor and it will be a great man who can equal the wonderful record which President McKinley has made." Of the acceptance of the Platt amendment, without conditions by the Cubans, Senator Allison said: "It is satisfactory not only for us but for the Cubans. The Platt amendment, adopted though it was in the hurry and rush of the closing hours of Congress, was drawn with remarkable skill and wisdom. Each word in its various sections seems to have been carefully selected, and the whole document could not be improved upon. In course of time the Cubans will undoubtedly have a government worthy of the name, but, in my opinion, they will continue to rely upon the U. S. They will have to do so." Of the general condition of the country Senator Allison said: "I have no doubt that prosperity has come to stay. There will be periods of slight depression, but on the whole, the general tendency will be towards a larger developement of our resources, and consequently a continuation of prosperous times."

Republicans regret that the Commissioner of Patents has issued a very injudicious order, not to call it by a harsher name—that no hearings will be granted by himself or the Assistant Commissioner during July and August. This order will impose an unnecessary hardship upon the inventors of the country by delaying action upon their applications for patents. As their business is done at a large profit to the government, the inventors have a right to expect better treatment from the Commissioner of Patents, and they received in from the late Benjamin Butterworth, and other able men, who have held the position.

Secretary Root says there will be no immediate reduction of the number of soldiers in Cuba, as the military authority over the island will continue until the Cuban government is established and that will require time, how much will depend upon the Cubans themselves. There is nothing for this government to do but to wait until the Cubans are prepared to take charge.

Senator Aldrich spent a day or two in Washington, but he said he was looking after private affairs and that his presence had nothing to do with the Senate Finance Committee, of which he is Chairman, which was authorized at the last session of Congress, to sit during the recess. The Committee may meet in the fall, but not earlier.

Choked Her and Threw Her Down

Late Sunday night Jesse Henry, a colored man knocked at the door of Wolf Dreyfuss, Milton. When a colored domestic opened the door Henry caught her by the throat and threw her to the floor. The girl's screams summoned Mrs. Dreyfuss to the door, whereupon Henry fled. He was afterwards arrested and taken to the Sunbury jail. Threats of lynching were made when the assault became known.

A CASE OF IT.

Many More Like it in Bellefonte.

The following case is but one of many similar occuring daily in Bellefonte. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof than such conclusive evidence.

Mr. G. H. Bradt of 121 Penn street, gardner, says: "I had a lame back and pains over my kidneys. I was at times so lame it was most painful to straighten up after sitting or stooping and any lifting or turning suddenly hurt me exceedingly. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, saw some Bellefonte people who had been cured by using them and I procured a box from F. Potts Green's drug store. They removed the trouble."

A REMARKABLE DUEL

BOTH OF THE PARTICIPANTS WERE QUICK ON THE TRIGGER.

An Enforced Parade Preceded the Gun Play, Which Was on the Pull and Shoot Order—Why Bratton Was Glad He Lost His Right Hand.

"The most affectionate looking two handed gun play that I ever saw," said a Colorado gentleman in one of the house committee rooms, "was the one that happened at La Junta, in my state, between 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, as pizenish a pair of real bad men of the type that has now passed away as ever fanned a .45 or twisted a Bowie.

"Gannon was the proprietor of the Gilt Edge honkatonk in La Junta, and it was at this place that he had some trouble with Bratton. The argument ended by Bratton backing out of the door with his hands up, Gannon having the drop. Gannon didn't shoot then because his gun wasn't loaded. He had been cleaning it and had forgotten to replace the cartridges. He'd have killed Bratton otherwise as a matter of course.

"That same night Bratton sent word to Gannon that he meditated shooting him up some on the following day. Gannon wasn't a man to take to the cliffs or the cactus, having plenty of notches on his gun barrel himself, and he walked around the next afternoon like a light battery of artillery. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton bulged him, however, by turning a corner suddenly as Gannon paraded down the main street, and then it was Gannon's hands that went up for a change. Bratton had two guns covering him, and Gannon knew his gait.

"'This,' said Bratton, 'is where I get an even break for my coin. Now, you like me so much, Gannon, that I want you to sort of show your appreciation of me by walkin around town linked arms with me for awhile.'

"It was up to Gannon to comply with this peculiar request. 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton jabbed his guns back into his belt, and then he clutched Gannon's left arm and passed it through his right. The disadvantage of this arrangement accrued to Bratton. It left Gannon's gun arm free, while in case of argument Bratton would have to use his left gun. But 'Big Divide Jim' wasn't selfish.

"The population of La Junta was amazed to see 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton and George Gannon, who had always been more or less sore on each other and who had had a quarrel that meant the death of one or both of them on the night before, walking arm in arm up and down the main street of the town. It looked like a peripatetic love feast between the two of 'em. But they were watching each other like cats. At the end of the street Bratton, still with his right arm linked to Gannon's left, stopped suddenly and said:

"'George, I ain't much on the blow about any gun suddenness that I may possess, but I sure want to give you a chance. You thrung it into me last night in a way that's eat up so much of the atmosphere around here that there's not enough air left in this neighborhood for both of us to breathe at one and the same time. I'm a-goin to count three, and when I say "three" it's a breakaway and a finish. You've got a loose right arm, but I ain't no hog. One—two—three!'

"The event proved 'Big Divide Jim' Bratton the quicker man and the better marksman. He got Gannon through the heart, whereas Gannon's ball lodged in Bratton's right wrist. Bratton had to suffer his right hand to be cut off that same night.

"The last time I saw him was in Creede. He was sitting on the edge of a bunk in his own cabin, close to a claim he was working. I hadn't seen him since he'd lost his hand.

"'Jim,' said I, 'it's too bad you should have lost that right hand. If the fellow that plugged you had only got the left hand, why'—

"'Oh, I don't know,' said Bratton philosophically. 'If I'd ha' lost my left, I wouldn't have been able to play the fiddle any more.'

"He reached under his bunk and brought forth an old violin. Then he rigged up an attachment he had for holding the bow in his right stump, and he played the instrument real sweetly for me for half an hour or so.

"'I couldn't have done no fingerin if I'd ha' lost my left hook, you know,' he said simply when he put the old fiddle away."—Washington Post.

The Result of His Study.

"I suppose you have made a study of human nature," remarked the friend.

"I attribute my success in life to that fact," answered Senator Sorghum.

"Were you ever tempted to give the world the benefit of your observations, to put them into book form as a human comedy or something of that sort?"

"My dear sir, it wouldn't take a book to do it. I have figured on the problem of human nature until I know the answer. I should just say, 'Human nature loves money,' and let it go at that."—Exchange.

Buttons.

Towne—For goodness' sake, what are you so cranky about?

Browne—Oh, I asked my wife to sew a button on my coat.

Towne—And wouldn't she do it?

Browne—Yes, but I've just discovered that the button she sewed on my coat she cut from my vest.—Exchange.

What Was Needed.

Henry Ward Beecher used to tell a story about a priest in the olden time who was called to bless the field of a poor [illegible] prior to the planting. He came [illegible] after surveying the soil remarked to the agriculturist, "Praying would be here; what you want is manure."

COULDN'T CALL HIM CRAZY.

Just a Newspaper Headliner Mumbling From Force of Habit.

The young man with the haggard look sat in the rear car of an elevated train, staring and staring at one of the advertisements.

"English beauty shoes," he mumbled to his companion. "That's what he says."

"Yes," said the other, "but that's too short."

"Hm, hm," the haggard man replied. "Beautiful shoes from England"—

"That won't fit. It's long," was the curt reply.

"Well, then, 'Beautiful English shoes' "—

"That's only three words. You've got to have four, you know."

"That's so, that's so. Ah, I have it!" he cried so loud that all the other passengers in the car gave a jump. "'English shoes of beauty,' 23 letters and spaces at last."

A compassionate old man looked up from his newspaper.

"What's the matter with your friend?" he asked. "Is the chap suffering from delirium tremens?"

"Oh, no," the man addressed replied assuringly. "You see, he's just through with his night's work on a morning newspaper. He's a headline writer, you know, and after a fellow has scribbled off headlines of 23 letters and spaces for about eight hours steady he contracts that habit and can't get over it. Every advertisement, every scrap of paper he sees for several hours afterward until his mind gets rested—well, he begins to count the letters and spaces and turn the wording into a headline that will fit. It isn't exactly delirium tremens. It's something worse. The headlines of 23 letters and spaces go wriggling around in that poor overworked brain much worse than snakes."—Chicago Chronicle.

MILTON RELICS AT HARVARD

Signature In an Autograph Album and the Poet's Copy of "Pindar."

The Harvard library numbers among its treasures an autograph of Milton and a copy of "Pindar" annotated in Milton's own handwriting, with marginal notes in Greek and Latin. Both of these rarities were bequeathed to the university by Charles Sumner.

The "Pindar" is dated 1620 and was doubtless used by Milton during his stay at Cambridge university. At the end he has added an alphabetical index in manuscript, occupying two closely written pages of all the authors cited in his notes, with references to the pages in which their names occur.

Milton's autograph is found in the pages of an autograph album or visitors' book kept, according to a custom common in the sixteenth century, by a Neapolitan nobleman, Camillus Cardoyn by name, who resided in Geneva from 1608 to 1640, where Milton, apparently, visited him. Another autograph in this same album among the hundreds which it contains is that of Thomas Wentworth, the unfortunate Earl of Stafford. Milton's signature is dated Jan. 10, 1639, and is appended to a Latin motto—"Travel changes one's sky, but not one's mind." It may be freely rendered and a quotation from his own "Comus:"

"If Vertue feeble were,
Heaven itselfe would stoope to her."

The most notable Milton manuscript known to exist is a little book now owned by Trinity college, Cambridge, England, which contains the poet's copies of his so called minor poems, including "L'Allegro" and "Il Penseroso." In this country, however, it is said that the only original memorials of the great author of "Paradise Lost" are to be found in these two time stained volumes in the possession of the Harvard library.

A Cement Which Resists Acid.

In some branches of industry a cement which is proof against the influence of acids is absolutely essential, and such a substance can be prepared by melting together one part of India rubber with two parts of linseed oil. This should be gradually incorporated with three parts of white bole so as to form a plastic mass. This when heated softens but very little. Though it does not easily dry upon the surface, when once set it is not affected at all by hydrochloric acid and but very little by nitric acid. Its drying and hardening is materially promoted by mixing with one-fifth of its weight of litharge or minium.

Not a Bargain.

"How much will you charge for marrying us, squire?" asked the stalwart bridegroom, painfully conscious of his new suit of ready made clothing.

"I am entitled by law to a fee of $2," replied the justice of the peace.

"Perhaps, Alfred," timidly suggested the blushing bride, "we might get it done somewhere else for $1.98."—Chicago Tribune.

Marveled at It.

"Yes," said Mr. Henry Peck, "I like to go to the circus. One sees so many daring deeds. For instance, did you ever see anything more reckless than the way in which the ringmaster cracks his whip at the ladies who ride the horses?"—Baltimore American.

STANDARD TIME.

A Table of the Hour Reckonings of All Nations.

The difficulty of appreciating the difference in time that prevails between different countries is very general, and the following list is printed for the purpose of a ready reference guide by which to calculate the time of any occurrence in another country. All nations except Spain, Portugal and Russia calculate their time from the meridian of Greenwich, accepting as standard some even hour meridian east or west of Greenwich. For instance:

Western European time, or that of the meridian of Greenwich, is legal in England, Belgium, Holland and Luxemburg.

Central European time, or one hour east of Greenwich, is legal in Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Kongo Free State, Denmark, Italy, Servia, Sweden, Norway and Switzerland.

Eastern European time, or two hours east of Greenwich, is adopted by Bulgaria, Roumania, Natal and Turkey in Europe.

Eight hours east of Greenwich applies to the Philippines.

Nine hours east of Greenwich is adopted by central Australia and Japan.

Ten hours east of Greenwich is official in Victoria, Queensland and Tasmania.

Eleven and a half hours east has been adopted by New Zealand.

The United States, Canada and Mexico have adopted the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth hours west of Greenwich.

The Hawaiian Islands adopt the meridian of 10½ hours west.

In Spain the meridian of Madrid, 14 minutes 45 seconds west of Greenwich, is legal; in Portugal, that of Lisbon, or 36 minutes 39 seconds west, and in Russia, that of St. Petersburg, or 2 hours, 1 minute and 13 seconds east of Greenwich.—Detroit Free Press.

THE PIANO AT ITS BEST.

Four Times a Year None Too Often to Have a Piano Tuned.

"There are plenty of people," said a piano tuner, "who let their pianos go one, two, three years without tuning, and in some cases pianos thus neglected may not get very, very woefully off, but a piano should be tuned every three months. That would be none too often to keep it in order.

"As a matter of fact, a piano begins to get out of tune again at once after it has been tuned. How could it be otherwise? Nothing stands still. This difference would at first be so slight as scarcely to be perceptible to any but the practiced and sensitive ear of an expert tuner, but it is there. Doesn't a clock begin to run down as soon as it is wound up? Four times a year a piano ought to be tuned, but only a comparatively small percentage of people give their pianos that attention which is needed to keep them in their most perfect loveliness of tone. Piano makers and dealers of course are looking after the tuning of their pianos in stock scrupulously and carefully all the time. You don't hear pianos out of tune in a piano wareroom. They never let them get out of tune there. They aim, in fact, at keeping them as near perfection as they can.

"We are pretty sure to find in every new piano something pleasing and attractive. Some share at least of this pleasing quality comes from its being in perfect tune. In fact, to keep any piano at its best it must be kept in tune, and to attain the results most satisfactory to all, to the owner and the neighbors alike, a tuning tonic should be administered to every piano not less than four times a year."—New York Sun.

Two Anecdotes of Colonel Ingersoll.

Senators Morrill, Voorhees and Gorman were conversing together outside the senate chamber. Colonel Ingersoll chanced to pass by. Mr. Voorhees greeted him and said: "We are discussing the meaning of 'improbable.' What is your definition of the word?" Promptly Colonel Ingersoll replied, "It is a negro going in an opposite direction from a brass band."

Colonel Ingersoll was a temperate man, but not a teetotaler. One day Mrs. James G. Blaine was passing through Fifteenth street opposite the treasury department, when out from a liquid refreshment saloon came Colonel Ingersoll and a friend. "My dear colonel," said she, "you would not be seen coming out of such a place, would you?" "My dear madam," replied he, "would you expect me to stay there all the time?"—Washington Times.

Making the Choir Sing.

Many conscientious ministers have had trouble with wayward choirs, but not all have had Dr. Samuel West's witty address or management. There had been difficulty with the singers, and they had given out that they should not sing on the next Sunday. This was told to Dr. West. "Well, well, we will see," he said and on Sunday morning gave out his hymn. After reading it he said very emphatically, "You will begin with the second verse:

"Let those refuse to sing
Who never knew our God."

The hymn was sung.

A Scoop.

Four Ministers

Tell of Magical Results Brought About in Burning, Itching, Bleeding Skin Troubles by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. Chase's Ointment draws more praise from ministers, physicians and lawyers than any other medicine in the world. It is endorsed by every profession.

Extracts from their Letters.

Rev. W. N. Edwards, Baptist minister, 109 Trinity Place, Buffalo, N. Y., writes: "For over fifteen years the itching piles have been a source of constant annoyance to me, and frequently, too, the suffering has become intense. At times there was bleeding and the itching and burning was beyond endurance. The results I have derived from Dr. Chase's Ointment have been magical and the benefits lasting. I feel it a duty to fellow sufferers to recommend it."

Rev. J. N. Van Natter, Methodist minister, Albion, Wis., writes: "My wife was terribly afflicted with protruding piles and contemplated a surgical operation when her notice was drawn to Dr. Chase's Ointment, and less than one box effected a cure."

"I then used it for an unsightly and troublesome skin affection, which had baffled medical skill for twenty-five years. Dr. Chase's Ointment thoroughly cured it. For piles and skin disease it is worth its weight in gold."

Rev. J. A. Baldwin, Baptist minister, Arkona, Ont., writes: "For over twenty years I was a great sufferer from itching and protruding piles. I used many remedies and underwent three very painful surgical operations, all without obtaining any permanent benefit. When about to give up in despair I was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment and did so, finding relief at once. I used three boxes, and am entirely cured. The itching is all gone. I have advised others to use it, believing it would cure them as it has me."

Rev. Chas. Fish, Methodist minister, 192 Dunn avenue, Toronto, Ont., writes: "Ten years ago eczema began on my ears and spread over my head and hands. During that time I was a great sufferer. I tried many remedies, and some of the best physicians—specialists on skin diseases—treated me. The first box of Dr. Chase's Ointment gave much relief and five boxes completely cured me. I think my cure a marvel, and gladly recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Just as good for every form of skin trouble, no matter how long standing, 50 cents a box, all dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

VANITY OF SAVAGES.

As evidence of the extent to which the ornamental precedes the useful Explorer Humboldt noted the fact that the Orinoco Indians in fair weather strutted about attired in all the finery they were able to procure, their faces painted gaudily, their heads decked with feathers, their whole aim being to strike astonishment to the beholder and no regard whatever had for comfort.

When the weather was bad, Humboldt found that the same men would doff their clothing and carry it about to save it for display on future sunny days.

The same traits are seen today in the North American Indians, little modified by many years of intermingling with civilization.

That part of Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, running from Second to Sixth street is the favorite promenade of visiting Indians. Portions of Second and Third streets, running off the avenue, are filled with boarding houses especially patronized by the redskins and especially avoided by the whites in consequence.

A number of photographers in the vicinity are the chief attractions of this neighborhood for the aborigines. Nothing so delights them as to strut gravely from their boarding houses to these art galleries to sit for solemn pictures at Uncle Sam's expense, the bill being charged in with necessaries incidental to a visit to the great father.

To deprive the visiting Indian of the privilege to sit for his photograph in full paint and feathers and a grotesque mixture of cheap ready made garments with blankets and bear claws would be the greatest hardship possible to the chieftains.

Showing the same disposition Humboldt noted, the visitors get themselves up more barbarously the closer they get to civilization.—St. Louis Republic.

A RARE VOLUME BY PENN.

Only Known Copy Is Owned by Quakers In Philadelphia.

The only known copy of Penn's issue of "Magna Charta," published in 1687 by the Bradford Press, is the property of the Meeting For Sufferings, a representative body of the Friends' yearly meeting in Philadelphia. Its title is "The Excellent Privilege of Liberty and Propriety; Being the Birthright of the Freeborn Subjects of England." The copy is not generally open to the public.

The peculiar significance of this book is that a half dozen years after Penn founded his colony he wished to have the colonists keenly realize that they would have to stand for their rights in the new country as well as the old, where they had been so cruelly persecuted. He wrote this book in order that they might be informed on the constitution of their local government and know what were the legal bases of their rights as citizens.

Curiously enough the only proof there is that this work was William Penn's is the statement made by Chief Justice David Lloyd in 1728, a great Quaker leader who was Penn's attorney general at the time the book was issued. Chief Justice Lloyd was also at that time an intimate friend of William Penn and consequently knew whereof he spoke.

The volume was reproduced in facsimile by the Philobiblon club in 1897 for a limited number of subscribers. The original volume, however, must always remain the rare thing that it is, one of the best expressions of liberty under law that the mind of the great founder could conceive.—Philadelphia Press.

After a Struggle.

"Georgie," said a fond mother to a little 4-year-old, "you must take the umbrella to school with you, or you will get wet. It rains hard."

"I want the little one," he said, meaning the parasol.

"No, my dear. That is for dry weather. You must take this and go like a good boy."

Georgie did as he was bid and got to school comfortably.

After school hours it had stopped raining, and Georgie trudged home with the remnants of the umbrella under his arm.

"Oh, Georgie, what have you been doing with my umbrella?" said his mother when she saw the state it was in.

"You should have let me had the little one," said he. "This was such a great one it took four of us to pull it through the door."—Leslie's Weekly.

Muzzling the Ox.

One morning our washwoman, a lady of color—very dark color—came hastily in and, without any preliminaries, exclaimed: "Sparatualism! What is sparatualism, Miss Cora?"

My sister explained as well as she could and asked why she wished to know.

"Well, you see," she went on excitedly, "Sarah—she's my daughter, you know, and she went last week to live with a lady what says she is a sparatualist, and she says if Sarah takes anything she'll know it. Sarah's going to leave!"—Harper's Magazine.

Lost Opportunity.

"And you didn't hear of it?" inquired Mrs. Gabbie.

"Not one word."

"Why, I've known it for a week, so I supposed everybody heard of it."—Philadelphia Times.

Only Sunburned.

Last summer two little girls in a College avenue family were repeatedly remonstrated with by their indulgent mother for playing bareheaded in the sun. "You will be burned so badly," said she to them finally, "that people will think you are black children." Her warning had little effect, however, and she gave up trying to keep their hats on.

One day she sent them to a neighbor a block or so distant to make some inquiries concerning a washwoman. Mrs. S., the neighbor in question, mistook them for the children of a Mrs. Black who lived in another street nearby.

"You are the little Black children, are you not?" she asked.

"Oh, no," came the prompt response from the elder. "Only sunburned."—Indianapolis News.

Wonderful Stones.

The brain of the tortoise was supposed to contain a wonderful stone which was efficacious in extinguishing fire and when placed under the tongue would produce prophetic inspiration. Another stone possessing the latter property was to be found in the eye of the hyena. The head of the cat, however, was thought to contain what would undoubtedly have been the most wonderful and most desirable treasure of all could it have only had a real instead of an imaginary existence, for that man who was so fortunate as to possess this precious stone would have all his wishes granted.—Chambers' Journal.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE VOLUNTEER EVIDENCE THAT DISPELS DOUBT.

The colums of this paper are day by day publishing fresh evidence from people which establishes more fully the great reputation of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The manner in which they take hold of the run down and debilitated is so prompt, strength and energy is so quickly picked up by their use, evidence is plentiful.

C. L. Scheid, of No. 118 E. Church St., Lock Haven, Pa., says: "I was feeling run down and poorly last fall as the result of a hard summer's work. I did not rest well and bothered a good deal with dull headaches. I got a box of A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and though I used less than one box I felt they did me a great deal of good, toning up and invigorating me. I can recommend them."

By calling at Krumrine's drug store information can be obtained regarding this great success of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and how they were first introduced by proof of their merit.

A Perpetual Subscription.

"What? A subscription for ever to the magazine? Never heard of such a thing," exclaimed the clerk at the subscription desk of one of the oldest and best-known magazines published in this city, says the New York Post.

"Well, that's what I mean, exactly. I want a perpetual subscription, and I am willing to pay liberally for it." The speaker was a well-dressed old man, somewhat over 70 years old, apparently. He spoke with quiet deliberation and an accent that marked him at once as no New Yorker. The clerk wondered.

"Yes, it does seem like a crazy request," said the man, "and you may not be willing to do it, but I have taken your magazine ever since I was 21 years old. It has therefore become a tradition in my household, and somehow I should like to assure myself that after I am dead and gone it will continue its monthly visits, not only to my son, but to my grandson."

The clerk went to the manager. The manager went to one of the members of the firm. Then the "old subscriber" was asked to step into the private office, and, after a short talk and a little figuring, was told that for $75 he would be given a subscription that should hold good as long as the magazine was published.

The man was the President of a bank in a small Connecticut town, and, having full confidence that a periodical that had lived and thrived for so many years would continue throughout the new century, at least, he made known his name and address, and gave a check for the amount asked. The subscription blank was made out in his name, after which was written "or his heirs and assigns."

EDITOR OF REPUBLICAN.

Dear Sir:—About two years ago I was talking to Ed Brown, Jr., about one thing and another and we drifted upon the possibilities of Electricity and its development as exhibited at Niagara Falls.

Ed contended that we could have in our locality a plant of like nature if the men who had the means would take the trouble to develop the same and I told him I did not think so.

He asked me if I was ever up Spring Creek to a point a little beyond the Bridge above the old still house, I told him I was but never noticed anything or at least did not have any improvement in my mind at the time.

You certainly know he replied that the fall from that point to say the breast of the old car work dam is great as it is, but you take and build a dam across that narrow and on either side steep side of the creek and you could have a breast then with a fall of 40 to 50 ft., but do not put your machinery there, the trunk that water from the top of the breast of that dam to say the breast of the old car work dam but the stream or outflow from that trunk fall on your water wheel and you would secure an immense power and I venture to say that it would not take a pound of coal to run all the plants that are here now.

This conversation I had two years ago and last week I was over that way and as soon as I was in the locality I recalled the conversation and I noted just what Ed said and the more I looked at it the more convinced I was that he was right.

I also noted that the land that would be made useless by back water from such a dam is not worth much and a great deal is owned by Col. Reynolds who no doubt would sell very cheap and as for the township road it could be changed as a good market for farmers would make them doubly anxious to agree to abandon that way to town. I think men of means who have the interest of our town at heart would do well to look into this matter. If we have cheap power to offer to Manufacturers (which is what is bringing so many to Niagara) why cannot we get some of them.

This is the only ravine that is left untouched by R. R. in our town and it is the only one that seems to keep up a steady supply of water it does not seem to be effected by the the droughs we have from year to year.

The above is only a suggestion perhaps if put in your paper some one may take hold.

Rumored Purchase Coal Fields.

It is rumored that the Pennsylvania Railroad company has purchased the coal fields operated by the Berwind White Coal Mining company for $33,000,000. The object of the control of these coal fields by the Pennsylvania Railroad company is to protect its coal carrying interests and to prevent the shipments from being diverted to other lines.

Upsetting a Wedding Adage.

The adage, "Happy is the bride that the sun shines on," is one that is unknown in many lands, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. A Breton bride takes it unhappily when the day of her wedding dawns bright and sunny. Rain on her marriage morn is held to signify that all her tears are shed, and that she will, therefore, have a happy married life.

It is said that the Erza of Simbrisk call the day before the wedding the weeping day, and the bride and her girl friends weep as much as possible, with the idea of getting the mourning of life over, so that only what is joyful may remain.

In some countries this result is attained by sousing the bride with water.

The Greeks think that a thorough drenching of the bride will bring her lasting good fortune.

Ninety-Eight Per Cent.

There is a fascination about big profits to a business man. But the conservative and cautious trader prefers to have the lesser per cent. of interest and the larger per cent. of safety in his investments. There is no business man who would not consider it a sound proposition to invest in an enterprise in which absolute loss was impossible and which offered ninety-eight chances in a hundred of a rich profit. The statistics of cures effected by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery show that ninety-eight per cent of "weak lungs" can be absolutely cured. Almost if not all forms of physical weakness may be traced to starvation. Starvation saps the strength. The body is just as much starved when the stomach cannot extract nutrition from the food it receives as when there is no food. "Weak lungs" bronchial affections, obstinate coughs, call for nourishment. "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies that nourishment in its most condensed and assimilable form. It makes 'weak lungs" strong, by strengthening the stomach and organs of digestion which digest and distribute the food, and by increasing the supply of pure blood.

—A exchange in answer to a correspondent, says: It is not necessary to publish a card of thanks because assistance rendered during illness and at death is service for which only like service can repay; nor proper because friendship never expects thanks, and formal thanks are indicative of a lack of true appreciation. Besides, a card of thanks parades an entirely private matter before the public, which is very bad taste. In cases where expression of gratitude is necessary, a brief note of thanks, and better a kindly spoken word, is in much better taste, and is indicative of that refinement with which all like to be credited. If you will notice you will very seldom see cards of thanks published by persons who pretend to observe the rules of propriety.

WORLD'S RECORD BROKEN

Illinois Proves to be the Fastest Battle Ship Afloat.

SHE IS EASILY HANDLED

Demonstrates Her Ability to Turn Upon An Enemy in Remarkable Small Compass.

FROM CAPE ANN TO CAPE PORPOISE

BOSTON, June 13.—With the proud distinction of being the fastest battleship in America, and the speediest of her class in the world the new sea fighter Illinois lay at anchor in President's Roads last night after a most successful trial.

Over the government course from Cape Ann to Cape Porpoise and return, a distance of 66 nautical miles, she raced yesterday under the watchful eyes of United States naval representatives, and established a new record by maintaining an average speed of 17.31 knots for four consecutive hours.

Not only did she demonstrate that she was faster than any warship of her size afloat, but she proved her ability to turn upon an enemy with extraordinary quickness by describing a complete circle within 300 yards, or little more than twice her length, in three minutes and 10 seconds, while ploughing through the sea at full speed.

Steadiness and reserve power characterized one performance of the ship throughout the severe test. The work of her engines was smooth and even and the records of the day showed but one-tenth of a knot difference in speed between the northern run and the return. The machinery easily met every requirement and not an accident of any kind marred, the success of the day.

Rear Admiral Sampson, who was aboard unofficially, and Rear Admiral Evans, who acted as president of the Trial Board, as well as the other naval officers who participated in the trial, were thoroughly pleased with the new champion, and as she steamed back to her anchorage with a broom at her masthead, the officials of the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, whose three years of labor had reached such a happy climax, were enthusiastically congratulated.

The day could not have been more perfect for the trial of a battleship. Hardly a breath of air ruffled the water as the vessel steamed over the Boston harbor.

The Illinois was hardly a thing of beauty as she laid her course for Cape Ann, but the great white wave turned up at her bow gave those aboard the impression that she was out for a business-like day's work. The first mark boat, the converted yacht Hist, was in sight just before 10 o'clock and twelve minutes past that hour the ship crossed the starting line, with her engines registering 117 revolutions to the minute.

The ship passed mark boat No. 2, the training ship Lancaster, at a 17 knot gait, 22 minutes and 53 seconds after the start. The next mark, the old Essex, was picked up 23 minutes and 20 seconds later, the Newport in 22 minutes 12 seconds, the Peoria in 23 minutes 8 seconds and the naval tug Potomac at buoy No. 6, indicating the end of the 33 knot run northward, in 22 minutes 36 seconds.

For a part of the northward run the Illinois had reached a speed of 17.84 knots an hour, and at no time did she drop below 16 97. Buoy 6 was passed at 12.06.07, showing elapsed time for the run of 1.54.04 and an average speed for the 33 knots of 17.86 nautical miles.

On the return the elapsed time between buoys was about the same as during the first half of the trial. Again she reached a maximum speed of 17.84 knots, with a minimum of 16.97 knots. The finish line was passed and the speed trial was over at 1.18.88, the elapsed time being 1.54.42, and the average speed for the second half of the trial 17.26 knots.

A Methodist Minister's Death.

At Selby, Iowa, on Monday last, W. H. Stevens, a superannuate member of the Central Penna. Methodist Episcopal conference, died very suddenly. Born near Shirleysburg, Dec. 12, 1831, he entered, in 1855, the East Baltimore conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. While serving Bald Eagle circuit, in 1862, he recruited part of a company and became a lieutenant in the 148th regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, Gov. Beaver's regiment. In a few weeks he was appointed chaplain, serving in this capacity until the regiment was mustered out, in June 1865. After returning from the war he again entered the pulpit. Since 1897 he has been at Shelby, Iowa. In 1888 he was elected a member of the legislature. Besides one son, who is the presiding elder of the Juniata district, he has 3 nephews in the Methodist Episcopal ministry. His body will be brought east. Friday is set for interment at Three Springs, Didn't Marry For Money.

LOOKING BACK

To the time when she was plucked from the very grasp of death, the natural impulse of the womanly heart is thankfulness for the means which saved her, and a desire to help other women in like case. Those are the motives which prompted Mrs. Eva Burnett to write the accompanying testimonial to the curative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is only one cure out of thousands. No one would dare say that the average woman was not as truthful as she is good. And it is the truthful testimony of the average woman that "Favorite Prescription" cures womanly diseases when all other means and medicines absolutely fail. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, restores the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

"I have intended for some time to write to you," says Mrs. Eva Burnett, of Russellville, Logan Co., Ky., "and give a testimonial in regard to what your medicine has done for me. My baby came in July, 1889, and I had congestive chills, and lay at death's door for ten long weeks. I was in a dreadful condition and had six of the best doctors of the city. After everything had been done and I had been given up to die I asked my husband to get me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. He had no faith in it, but he got it, and when I had taken it two weeks I was able to walk to the dining room to my meals, and by the time I had taken three bottles I was able to cook for my family of four. I can never praise Dr. Pierce and his medicine enough."

OFFICERS ELECTED.

At the Annual Athletic Meeting of the Academy Students

At the annual athletic meeting held by the students of the Academy last week a very important step was taken and one which will prove of very great benefit to that school in all its future athletic career. It was unanimously voted to annually elect an advisory committee from the graduates in whom the undergraduates could have implicit confidence and to whom they might go for advice and inspiration in all athletic matters.

The committee elected for the ensuing year consists of H. C. Quigley Esq., Fred Blanchard and Jas. R. Hughes.

It was also voted that the base ball and foot ball terms of one year should elect the captains for the following year and that the school at large should at the same meeting elect the presidents of the respective associations and the managers of the different teams. The elections resulted as follows: President of the foot ball association, John Munson; manager, Harold Lingle; captain, John McGee, with Warren Greenlee alternate, president of the base ball association, Howard Pratt; manager, Hassall Montgomery; captain, Edward Keichline. Great enthusiasm prevailed in this meeting as the prospects are very bright for successful teams in both associations next year.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well" Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by F. Potts green drug store Trial bottles free.

Our Steel Trust Frightens France.

PARIS, June 14.—Francois Laur, a former deputy, deposited in the chamber of deputies Wednesday a petition calling attention to the American steel trust, which, it is claimed, threatens the disorganization of the French metal industry. The petitioner suggests as reprisals an increase in the duties on American steel products and especially machine tools. The petition will be referred to the petition committee.

M. Laur proposes to visit the United States next year to study trusts. Afterwards he will be a candidate for re-election to the chamber of deputies at the general elections in 1902. His sole program will be an anti-trust war. M. Laur, some time ago, attacked the Standard Oil company's operations in France. The company sued him and won the day.

Sentenced to Hard Labor.

Easton, Pa., June 15.—Mrs. Alice Hitchings was sentenced to serve five years at hard labor and solitary confinement in the eastern penitentiary for a murderous assault on Mrs. Emily Keck, at Siegfrieds. Both women live at Allentown. They had been the closest of friends for years, and when Mrs. Keck attempted to end the unnatural friendship that existed between them Mrs. Hitchings determined to kill her.

Mrs. Hitchings at first pleaded not guilty, but later changed her plea to non vult contendere. An effort was made to show that she was a monomaniac. Mrs. Keck is a former great Pocohontas of the degree of Pocohontas of Pennsylvania.

Notable School Exhibits.

Educational interests throughout the State are very much occupied at present in discussing a new departure in educational methods made possible by the enterprise and generosity of the Philadelphia Commercial Museum.

Collections have been prepared by the Museum, under the personal supervision of the director, Dr. W. P. Wilson, illustrating the raw materials which enter into commerce and which illustrate the natural wealth of this and other countries. Accompanying these collections, which contain several hundred separate objects, are many photographs depicting commercial processes and methods of transportation in different parts of the world.

Further, each collection is provided with a booklet giving an idea of the elements of commerce and describing in detail the different objects brought together.

It is the idea of Dr. Wilson to provide various schools with these collections, free of charge, for the purpose of teaching commercial geography and the importance of a knowledge of commerce in the struggle now going on for commercial supremacy. He hopes eventually to place them in every school of the State, but at present the resources of the Museum necessitate restricting the distribution to something like 400 schools. As the Museum is very desirous that the exhibits shall be placed where they will be most effective, Senators and Representatives have been requested to make selections for the most suitable schools in their respective districts.

Appreciating as they do the value of such exhibits in the hands of the State's wide-awake teachers, who on their part are enthusiastic over the idea, about 140 of the Legislators have selected schools and placed collections.

The Buffalo Moth.

The coming of spring, when insect life in the house wakes up, brings consideration of the buffalo moth. Each year this creature seems to go from one place when it is driven out to a fresh territory, where it has not appeared before. Examine the edges of the carpet first, for the creature seems to prefer carpet, especially the dark edges. It prefers the reds, and will often eat out the red portions of carpeting and leave the greens and browns behind it, probably because of some distasteful matter in the dye. The only insecticide that will destroy the buffalo moth is benzine. If this is sprayed or deluged into the edges of the carpet that is affected it will certainly prevent any further trouble this year. The creature, however, has a curious habit of returning to premises which it has once occupied a year or more before and from which it was driven, so that constant watchfulness is necessary. Shake and hang out any rugs, hangings and other woolens, and expose them to the air and sun for twenty-four hours or two days. Examine the goods for the peculiar straight lines in which this moth eats. The common clothes moth is a harmless creature when compared with the buffalo moth. Airing and shaking finally drives this moth away. If there are any signs of either moth in early spring, when pantries and stowaway places should be cleaned, use benzine freely, and air the premises of the house repeatedly.—Tribune.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Proceedings of the Regular Semi-Monthly Session of Council.

The town council met Monday evening at 7:30 in the council chamber in the Public building on Howard street. President Gerberich was in the chair with the following members present: Reynolds, Walkey, Knisely, Garrity, Cunningham and Potter.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved after which council proceeded to discuss the business before it.

Burgess Blanchard announced the resignation of Joshua Foulk as High Constable of Bellefonte boro. Mr. Foulks reason for resigning is that he has secured a job in the ax factory at Mill Hall.

J. A. B. Miller, of East Bishop street, reported a gutter on that street which is in a bad condition.

W. L. Steele protested against the laying of a stone crossing below his property. There is a steep grade there and he thinks a stone crossing dangerous. He thinks a more substantial crossing of brick or other material should be laid.

Thos. Shaughnessy Jr., fire marshal, recommended to council the purchasing of four smoke protectors, two for each fire company. These are a very useful device and are used by firemen in entering a burning building. They are slipped on over the head and protect the wearer from being suffocated by the smoke.

A petition of citizens was received requesting an electric light on Blanchard street between the Hepburn and Fox residences. Referred to Street committee to investigate and report.

Logan street residents requested a new crossing over Penn street. Referred to Street committee to investigate and report.

Street Committee reported cleaning Thomas street. Boardwalks have been repaired, also Lamb street bridge. New crossings have been laid on Curtin and Bishop streets. The street committee was instructed to lay a brick crossing below the Steele property on South Spring street.

Water committee reported everything in good order at the Water works Pumps running 24 hours.

Fire and Police committee reported a fire at the residence of Mrs. Louisa Hoy on East Linn street last Wednesday night. Fire however was put out with out assistance from fire department.

The resignation of Joshua Foulk as High Constable was accepted by council. The appointment of his successor is made by the Court. In the meantime the Nuisance committee was instructed to fill the vacancy temporarily.

Market committee reported the collecting of $5.10 market fees. It was called to the attention of council that several butchers from out of town are peddling meat through town without paying a license. The market clerk was instructed to call attention of the Burgess to the matter and have it stopped.

The nuisance in regard to gutters on East Bishop street was referred to Street Committee to investigate and report.

The fire and police committee was instructed to purchase four smoke protectors for use of firemen.

Samuel Guisewhite was appointed janitor of the Public building at a salary of $6.00 per month. $5 00 to be paid by the Logan Fire Company and $1.00 to be paid by council.

The following bills were approved and ordered paid:

Wonderful Balloon Ascension at Hecla Park on the 4th.

One of the leading features of the big Undine picnic at Hecla Park on the 4th of July will be the balloon ascension which takes place at 3:30 p. m. This ascension will be different from any that ever took place in this vicinity.

In doing this act a cannon eight feet long is used, and in this cannon an aeronaut and parachute is concealed. When at a height of five thousand feet a loud report is heard and aeronaut and parachute are shot from cannon midst fire and smoke. After descending a great distance, the parachute opens, and aeronaut sails gracefully to earth, performing marvelous trapeze performances while descending. This is certainly a great attraction—worth going miles to see.

3 Years and 4 Months in the Western Penitentiary for Causing the Death of Miss Ella McWilliams.

Judge Love on Monday handed down his decision refusing a new trial to Edward L. Irvin convicted at the April term of Court of causing the death by abortion of Miss Ella McWilliams, of Rock Springs. Judge Love sentenced Irvin to pay the costs of prosecutions, $500, fine and undergo 3 years and 4 months solitary confinement at hard labor in the Western penitentiary at Pittsburg.

The crime for which Irvin was sentenced was committed along about the 9th of last January. Miss McWilliams was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McWilliams, of Rock Springs and Irvin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Irvin, of Baileyville. Our readers are pretty well acquainted with the details of the case a full report having been published in this paper at the time.

Reeder & Quigley, attorneys for the defendant, it is stated will appeal the case to the Superior Court. In the meantime they asked that Irvin be released on bail but Judge Love refused this request and the defendent was committed to jail.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

John S. Furst Came Near Receiving a Bullet in His Body.

John S. Furst, son of Ex-Judge Furst, of Bellefonte, had a narrow escape from a distressing accident on Thursday. Mr. Furst is secretary of the Central Penna. Telephone company, at Williamsport.

Thursday afternoon a number of members of the gun club were at the range back of Valiamont, among them being Mr. Furst and H. A. Ferguson, assistant engineer for the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. Ferguson was a short distance behind Mr. Furst with a loaded magazine gun in his hand, when in some manner the gun was accidentally discharged. The weapon was pointed downward in the direction of Mr. Furst and the bullet dug a hole in the ground directly back of Mr. Furst and so close to him that dirt was thrown over him.

Less than two years ago Mr. Furst was the victim of a shooting accident while hunting pheasants. On that occasion he received a portion of a load of shot in his face.

At the Methodist Church

Children's Day was appropriately observed Sunday at the Methodist Episcopal church. The floral decorations were beautiful and won the admiration of every one present. The special music of the choir throughout the day was of a high order and reflects great credit on the enterprise and ability of the leader J. P. Smith.

In the morning the pastor, Rev. W. P. Shriner, gave a very interesting talk to the young people It was of such a character as to command the closest attention of old and young.

In the afternoon at 3:30 the baptismal service was held and at 6:30 p. m. the regular Children's Day program was rendered to a very large and appreciative audience. It was one of the best programs ever rendered in this church and the music was fine. The special features were a recitation by Martha Barnhart, a solo by Mary McLain, both little girls and an exercise by a class of girls under the direction of Miss Ida Green.

Children's Day at the United Brethren Church

One of the most enjoyable Children's Day entertainments held for some time was that which the scholars of the United Brethren Sunday school gave in their church Sunday evening. The cosy little church and chapel was crowded to the doors with a most appreciative audience. The exercises were entitled "Through the Gates" and consisted of singing, recitations and responsive readings. The large audience was delighted at the manner in which the different features were presented. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, potted plants, etc. The different committees having charge of the program, and also of the decorations, deserve great credit for the manner in which they performed their tasks.

The closing feature was of especial interest, it was an exercise entitled "The Gates of Zion" and was rendered in an excellent manner by nine young ladies.

St. John's Catholic Club Organized.

On Sunday the young men of St. John's Catholic church of this place perfected the organization of what is to be known as St. John's Catholic club and the officers were selected as follows: President, Harry E. Fenlon; Vice President, Joseph Fox; Secretary, Thomas J. Sexton; Treasurer, Joseph Ceader; Board of Directors, T. R. Hamilton, C. M. Parrish and S. B. Finnegan.

The object of the club is to promote social intercourse among the young people of the church and to arrange for social festivities. The headquarters will be on the second floor of St. John's Hall where a reading roomhas already been fitted up, where young and old can go and enjoy the latest magazines and periodicals. Games are also provided for those who wish to go there and pass a social hour. The rooms will be kept open all the time. It is hoped that in the near future they will be able to add a library to their equipment.

A Young Girl Under Arrest for Stealing.

Minnie Folk, the 15 year old daughter of Joshua Folk, was arrested Thursday and lodged in jail charged with stealing clothing from Miss Lide Moore and Miss Jennie Morgan. These goods were stored in a room on the third floor of the Crider's Exchange and in some manner the girl gained an entrance and helped herself carrying the goods to her home on East High street. It is not known when the goods were stolen but the theft was not discovered until last week. The Folk girl was seen by Mrs. Moore wearing clothes which she recognized as belonging to her daughter, Miss Lide. A search warrant was issued by Justice Keichline and officer Mullen and Constable Montgomery, accompanied by Misses Morgan and Moore, went to the Folk house and instituted a search which resulted in finding the missing clothing. The Folk girl was at once taken into custody. The goods stolen amounted to about $20.

Death of Henry Lytle.

NEARLY WRECKS A TRAIN.

Elephants Trunk Creates Consternation.

Last night the first section of the John Robinson Circus train consisting of twenty-two loaded cars, left Grafton, W. Va. where the Big Show exhibited yesterday, for the next stand Clarksburg and everything went along smoothly, and the train men had orders to run about twenty miles an hour. At Celina Junction a heavy grade is encountered and for miles it is a matter of rise and fall on this particular piece of road bed.

For a long time one of the train hands who is stationed on one of the flat cars which precedes the mammoth car in which the elephants are housed, has been in the habit of feeding the celebrated trained elephant Nero with apples and other sweets.

As soon as the first section moves, this elephant is on the lookout, with the end of his trunk protruding through the end of the car for his reward.

Last night his apples were not forthcoming, and after his patience was exhausted, in some manner his trunk managed to touch the bar that unlocks the Jeanney coupler, and the train was cut in two. Later when the engineer started he felt his engine leaped ahead and the train doubled the speed. This being unusual going up grade he decided to investigate when the top of the grade was reached.

It turned out to be a fortunate thing, for had he not done so many lives and thousands of dollars worth of property would have been sacrificed, as the second section consisting of nineteen cars and eight sleepers containing the performers and the proprietor of the show was traveling only a few minutes behind. The train men found the last half of the train some two miles back and had scarcely completed on when the brakeman flagged the second section which was thundering not a half mile behind the first train.

Mr. Robinson on hearing of the accident and the prompt efforts of the engineer and crew, ordered his treasurer to reward the men for their vigilance.

Had the accident not been discovered, the loss of life and property would have been great.

The elephant will no doubt, in future, miss his nightly feast but the Great John Robinson Show will exhibit as advertised in Bellefonte, Tuesday June 25.

Childrens Day Services Sunday Morning.

The Presbyterians are going to hold their Children's Day Services on Sunday morning in the church. These services are always looked forward to with much interest, as the little children always do their best, to make these services a success. Everyone in town is cordially invited. Prof. James Hughes, Supt. of the Sunday School, has been preparing the music for this day for two weeks, and no doubt it will be very pretty. There will be an orchestra of twelve peices and a choir of twenty-five voices.
